Slave market nets over $500

With the likes of Bell Trelford selling for $30.40 and Ken Aquilon for $21.00, the Salt Spring Lions Club garnered over $500 at the Slave Auction held at Mahon Hall last Friday night.

The "slaves", who are pledged to do a day's work for the 'master' who bought them, were members of the Lions Club and were auctioned off for prices ranging from $5.00 (Fred Spracklin, auctioned off in absentia and purchased by Chuck Horel) to the $30.40 paid for Trelford by Mrs. J. Harkema.

The evenings festivities started off with the slaves, in various costumes and chained together, on stage singing an original song (by Ed Richardson) about their forthcoming servitude. The first slave to be pulled to the block was Ted Jansch, the President of the Lions Club. The pulling to the block was a pleasant moment for the slave. Two pretty lady pirates, Mrs. Lorne Earle and Mrs. Ken Aquilon, were doing the manhandling. The aforementioned Trelford was the Auctioneer. (At the time he was under the impression that auctioneers were never sold as a slave).

Jansch, being the first on the block, was knocked down for $8.00 and was bought by Tommy McColm, who, we suspect, didn't really want the Doctor but got carried away by the chant of the auctioneer. The next slave, Peter Cartwright, was sold to a neighbour, Mrs. A. Thompson, who recognized that this was a bargain at $11.00. The 3rd slave, Dennis Abolit, went for $12.50 to Mrs. Jim Hawksworth of the K-9 Kennels. Eric Faure, Mayor of Isabella Point, was picked up by Driftwood for $8.00 and you will be seeing him soon, selling papers at one of the busy downtown corners. Jim Hawksworth went for a bargain price of $8.00 to Mr. F.J. Grant and Irl Bradley, including his guitar went for $13.00 to Armand Quesnel.

Harold Hoffman, ex-commercial artist and now Hosp-ital Administrator, went for $17.00 and to another slave, yet, Walter Mailey. Doug Dane was picked up by Mrs. A. E. Roddis for $7.00 when the expected contingent from the Harbour House Hotel did not show up with the money that was raised to bid upon him. Jack Tomlinson went for $16.00 to Fred Morris.

A pleasant intermission was then held with Susan Fellows and Heather Anderson playing piano duets. Following, Walter Mailey, an owner of a slave himself, was sold to Bob STORMS - HO-HUM

Storms uproot trees, topple power lines, stop ferries, destroy property and are usually considered news.

But this is getting to be ridiculous.

A few more weeks of this kind of weather and another B.C. typhoon won't rate two sticks of type on the back page. In fact, there probably won't be anybody left in the Islands to read about it.

As long as we are catching the tail-end of tropical upheavals we might as well be in the tropics. Anyone for Tahaiti?

Methinks maybe someone up there is mad at us for shooting off atomic bombs, for orbiting astronauts, and for probing with nosy Venus Probes.

Last Thursday, the good old "Geo. S. Pearson", was the only ship in the B.C. Toll Ferry Fleet to keep to her schedule, crossing from Vesuvius to Crofton.

And let us pay tribute to Geoff Fletcher and his B.C. Hydro gang for the tremendous job well done for the past few trying weeks.

Just to end this dispatch on a dismal plane we must report that Mr. Howard Carlin, Ganges Weather Observer, reports that November had 9.03 inches of rain. This compares to the relative dry November of 1961 of 5.62 inches of rain. The high temperature in November was 60 degrees, recorded on the 19th and the low of 30 was on

From little matches big flames grow...

Little Stevie Jarman found a funny little box of matches last Friday afternoon.

Little Stevie Jarman lost his bedroom, his clothes, and could have lost his life last Friday afternoon when he lit one of the funny little matches.

Extensive damage was done to the home of Dr. & Mrs. E.A. Jarman when a fire was started in an upstairs bedroom. The fire was first noticed by four-year old Stevie Jarman, sole occupant of the bedroom at the time. He let out some blood-curdlingscreams that brought his mother a-run-ning.

With smoke filling the first floor and hot sparks dropping onto that floor from the upstairs room, Bobbie Fisher, the Executive Assistant to the Doctor started moving out the valuable files of medical records.

The always efficient S.S.I. Volunteer Fire Department was there within seconds and soon had the fire under control, but not until the bedroom was gutted and smoke and water damage was rather heavy.

. The Jarman children lost all their clothing except what they were wearing.

Akerman for $16.00. However, later in the evening, it was learned that Holdfast Natural Resources had put a reserve bid on Mailey for $25.00 and the auctioneer had forgotten. To avoid confusion, Mailey offered to work two days, a day for each master. His two days work netted the Lions $41.00. Rod Pringle was sold for $13.00 to John Harkema, who exclaimed in a loud voice, "I want him". Des Crofton, even though brought in on a stretcher, with Dr. Jansch giving a simulated blood transfusion, brought $11.00 from Fred Morris. Earl Kaye who was absent, went for $13.00 to Mac Mouat. Fred Luddington went for $8.00 to Ted "the Shoeman" Earwaker & Fletcher Bennett was sold for $10.50 to Mrs. Hart Bradley. Con Ackerman went for $12. to Bob Akerman, Ed Richardson, $11.00 from Doug Cavaye; and Wayne Bradley drew $16.00 from Dave Humphreys.

Freddie and Pete Cartwright entertained at the next intermission with a hilarious pantomime of a recording of "I Can Do Anything Better Than You."

After this, Ben Greenhough, dressed as "Mr. Clean" went for $15.00 to Eddie Jang. W.T.D. Jones (Jonesy) went for $10.00 to Mrs. In Bradley. Mac Mouat bought his second slave, Hart Bradley for $14.00. Ken Aquilon was bought by Dr. Jansch for $21.00 after some spirited bidding. Rev. Stanley Leech, the new Anglican minister and a new member of the local Lions Club was a reluctant slave. The pirate ladies were forced to drag him onto the block. He went for $11.00 to Mrs. R. Morris, Matron of Dr. Francis Hospital. "Slim" Thorburn was knocked down at $14.00 and purchased by Mr.

(cont'd from p. 1) SLAVES B. Motion. Dave Pallot, the last slave on the block was (cont'd from p. 1) STORMS. sold to Larry Cruikshank for $16.00.

> It was at this time, the slaves threw off their chains and captured the auctioneer Trelford, who was then sold by Tharburn to Mrs. Harkema for $30.40.

Earlier in the evening, Bob Akerman was the successful bidder of $100.00 for the use of Hart Bradley's bulldozer and driver for one day, which had been donated to the Lions by Mr., Byad-

An additional $73.00 was realized by the Lions by the sale of admission tickets.

It has been interesting to note that additional trading in slaves was embarked upon the following day. We have learned that Mr. Horel has sold his slave, Mr. Fred Spracklin, to Mrs. Isabella Devine for $5.15, a slight profit for Mr. Horel. It has also been reported that Bill Trelford has purchased a half interest in Harold Hoffman.

LETTERS-TO-THE-EDITOR

"Dear Sir. Brian Beech wrote a fine letter for his fellow students and himself, from their point of view.

There are other points they will see later and the one of money will color new views. School taxes should not be a local affair, but now that the school tax is more than all other taxes combined on land & improvements, it is time to consider the cost. I worked on the Duke of Connaught high school when building in New Westminster; where is it now? Well the former site is now part of the lawn near the city hall. It had an auditorium with stage & I believe was also used for gymnastics. Yet a few years ago it was obsolete and no good for business purposes. It cost plenty to build high schools about a dozen blocks away.

Regarding a second referendum, more money would be wasted, only one poll was in favour and many who voted there have taxes increased by a land tax on water. That could change some school votes to "no". The voters on other Islands have valid reasons to vote against it, but perhaps a separate vote for a science room and equipment would fare better.

I wonder how many or few, here, will benefit from their science, and of those what small percentage of university graduates' lives will be affected by scientific studies.

(Signed) W.J.M."

THE WONDERFUL WORLD OF CHILDREN'S BOOKS . . . by Val Haigh

BRIGHTY of the Grand Canyon (by Marguerite Henry)

'Brighty' is a heartwarming story, based on fact, of a wild burro who roamed, a free spirit, in and above the Grand Canyon of Arizona. This is not only a first rate nature story, worthy of Walt Disney's attention, of the canyon, its flora and fauna, and of the mighty Colorado River. Also woven into the story is the lengthy hunt for the black-bearded murderer of the 'Old Timer', the prospector who first made friends with the little burro and named him Bright Angel after the creek in which he loved to play.

Brighty migrated reularly from his warm winter home deep in the canyon to his wummer place high on the North Rim, on the edge of the Kaibab forest. Over the years he wore a trail which was later followed by prospectors, artists and geologists. Some of these tried to use Brighty but he had little use for civilization and remained his own burro to the end.

Wesley Dennis' illustrations are full of genle humour and entirely convincing.

Just so must Brighty have looked as he skittered down the steep canyonside, wore the hot-tempered artist's painting around his neck outstuck his ears through tholes in the construction workers hat.

Children from the age of eight to twelve should thoroughly enjoy this exciting story. The Grand Canyon can never be just a mark on the map again to any child who has read it.

by Dr. Seuss
Few children can resist the fantasy and humour of the hilarious world of Dr. Seuss, peopled as it is by such unlikely characters as the 'Hoodwink', who winks in his winkhood & the nightmarish
'Spotted Atrocious', both of whom appear in 'If I Ran the Circus'.

This is the story of a little boy called Morris Mc-Gurk who imagines his own 'Circus McGurkus' in 'the most wonderful spot ... behind Sneelock's Store in the big vacant lot.'

Since the circus animals are the brain children of the inventive Dr. Seuss they are a weird collection of which the Drum-tummied Snumm, who beats a tattoo on his tum, is one of the least complex while the Remarkable Foon who eats sizzling hot pebbles is a rather more complicated character.

Through the story runs the rather pathetic figure of

Mr. Sneelock, the store owner, 'whom likes to help out' and who in the process of helping out performs as animal trainer, drum major, human beach ball and a host of other unrewarding occupations.

Dr. Seuss' unique illustraions and imaginitive rhymes are a constant delight. Most children between the ages of three and ten would be delighted to receive this book for Christmas.

PICTURE MYSTERY

Mrs. H.M. Sewell of Fulford, recently hospitalized in the Vesuvius Room at the Lady Minto Hospital, admired a water colour which decorated the wall. One evening when Mr. Sewell was visiting he wandered over to look at the painting more closely and discovered that it was a picture he had painted and sold over 30 years ago when the Sewells lived in Toronto. The painting "A Jug of Flowers" presents a mystery as to how it arrived in the Lady Minto Hospital. The ladies of the Hospital W.A. are endeavouring to trace who donated it to the Hospital. Anyone who may have some information regarding the painting and how it arrived in Ganges, please phone Driftwood.

THE CASE OF THE MISSING MOUNTIE

Maurice Tozer, Editor of the Sooke GRAPEVINE wrote a fine editorial recently entitled, "The Case of the Missing Mountie". While this editorial is about insufficient number of police in the Sooke area, the statements set forth by Mr. Tozer apply equally well to the Gulf Islands. With Mr. Tozer's permission, I'll paraphrase his article.

EDITORIAL

Our Ganges RCMP Detachment, serving the Gulf Islands-which is a wide area extremely hard to cover adequately due to the nature of our geography, is excellent except for one great failing: there's only one Mountie in the Detachment. The other is missing.

Everyone interested in law enforcement agrees that it's much better to prevent crime than to track down offenders and bring them to justice. Much crime prevention depends on one thing: the would-be wrongdoer doesn't know how far away the policeman is. Unfortunately that is not so in our district, for it is obvious that if the Ganges RCMP car is seen heading towards Fulford, Vesuvius is unprotected for some time. It is a well-known fact that when some of our more zestful types plan to do something that is frowned upon by the police, one car of the group is assigned to watch the RCMP Detachment and report or signal the whereabouts of the police car. When Cpl. Ken Aquilon is away attending police duty on Galiano, for instance, we are without protection for many hours.

Another policeman would increase the efficiency ten fold, make policing a much easier task and probably save the taxpayers money. Crime prevention is the biggest bar-

The population of the Gulf Islands is about 4000. A rough rule of thumb in the city is that for every 1,000 people there should be one policeman. Some people, counting the Marine Detachment stationed in Ganges, might contend we have five policemen and a big shiny boat. This is not so. The Marine Detachmen is an entirely seperate unit, not under the control of our local Corporal and it is serving an area streching from Nanaimo to Victoria While they do assist our local policeman at times, they are not stationed here for that particular rea-

As you will note by the following letter, slaves are not what they used to be. Not only does this happy-go lucky slave from Isabella Point show no respect for his master (first name, really!), by objecting to the task assigned, but he wants to use the pages of Driftwood to promote a darn good scheme. At the time we squandered eight dollars on this toothless one, we didn't realize he would be able to bite the hand that feeds him. Where's my whip!

"Dear Woody, Congratulations on securing an editorial at bargain-basement rates, through your purchase of a slave, at the recent Lion's Slave Auction. You seem to have a knack for getting out of writing your own editorials. Oh, well, it is a nice racket if you can get it.

But - slave or nor slave, Istrongly object to the title you are forcing me to put on this effort. "How it feels to be slave to a good master". If you think that I am going to flatter your ego, by telling the people of Salt Spring Island, through the medium of your own Editorial column, what a fine, upstanding fellow you are, you have another think coming. A lousy eight bucks may give you the right to order me around, but it does not buy my soul. Besides I do not commit perjury for anything under a Hundred Bucks. is duly enrolled. And furthermore, I am mad at you for tying me to such an unrewarding subject, when you knew damed well that I was just itching to get a crack at Harry Dickens! Talk about the height of frustration!!

After all - The only two subjects most people here abouts are interested in just now are the school question and the weather. You, you Rat, won't allow me to mention the former and I do not dare to write about the latter, for fear that my wife will get homesick for Prince Rupert.

There is however one other subject, about which, I in all seriousness should like to say a few words.

And that is the Ambulance service operated on a purely volunteer basis by our local Lions Club. I wonder how many of your readers know that by paying only Five Dollars per year per family, any resident of Salt Spring Island can get a FULL years ambulance service, ABSOLUTELY FREE, for every member of his family. When you realise that only one ambulance trip to one of the larger hospitals in Victoria normally would cost twenty-five dollars, you begin to see what a real bargain this is. True one may never use the ambulance, but as one subscribert so very aptly put it: "It is worth five dollars a year to keep the ambulance away".

All an interested reader has to do is to contact one of the Lions and he will see to it that the new subscriber

Before putting "thirty" behind this effort of mine, let me just say "thank-you" for buying me. I had some grim visions of having to clean out Ted Jansch's sep-
