Ellen Harkema and Tina Wichman are the sales staff at Youth '71 stall near Centennial Park. The stall sold $20 of arts and handicrafts manufactured by island students the first day it was open. The manufacture and the sale of handicrafts is part of the nationwide Student Employment Program. Other sections of the island program include growing garden produce and cleaning up the island.

Madness

REACHES CENTRAL

New season of madness opened for island players on Friday. Salt Spring Island Madness played to a new audience in a new setting. The players have renovated Central Hall for the purpose. Repainted and refurb-ished, the hall was filled when a modified version of madness was presented.

The successful musical exercise was written by Ray and Virginia Newman.

It opens the season for a series of plays and programs plan ned by the group.

PUBLIC HEARING MONDAY

Car Park And Campsites

Public hearing at Ganges next week will invite expressions of opinion on three changes in the zoning by-laws on the island.

A further two applications for the rezoning of rural property to commercial uses have been rejected by the Capital Regional Director Marc Holmes explained that the properties described in the advertisement for the public hearing are that property adjacent to the Centennial Park at Ganges and part of the prop-erty of J.B. Stewart on Beaver Point Road.

At Ganges H. & P. Holdings Ltd. is seeking rezoning for co-mmercial use and car parking purposes part of the reclaimed land beyond Centennial Park. Property is adjacent to the new Salt Spring Lands building.

The Stewart property is to be used for campsites for tourists.

Third subject of the hearing will be the changing of island zoning by-laws to include daycare facilities and homes for children or adults, disabled or living away from parents. The by-law at present provides for the construction of hospitals, churches and schools and the new proposal will bring in certain us-es which are not commercial and go beyond normal residenti-

Unsuccessful rezoning bid came from Wayne Page for his Plyland operation at Central. The operation is at present nonconforming. It is immediately adjacent to the cemetery and Central Hall. Second unsuccessful bid, reports Director Holmes, came from the owner of a half-acre property on which he sought to erect four cottages. Public hearing will take place at the Legion (tall in Ganges on Monday evening, July 19.

LITTLE LEAGUERS WILL EAT WELL

Little League supporters will cat well.

Top ticket salesman was Stephen Bryan.

FOR LACK OF ADMINISTRATOR

School dormitory at Ganges has closed its doors and outer islands students at Gulf Islands Secondary school in the fall will be billeted with Salt Spring Island residents.

Earlier in the year proposals to close the dormitory were met with indignant protests from residents of the outer islands. It had been then mooted that transportation be provided on a daily basis. The problems of daily travel and the perils of the sea daunted many parents who pressured the trustees of Gulf Islands School District to retain the dor-

The dormitory will be closed for the remainder of the year. The matter will not be permitted to drop. During the fall the board will continue to search for a matron for the dormitory and if a suitable candidate is found the board will investigate the possibility of re-opening the facility in the new year.

In the meantime, the school board office is lin ing up accommodation for outer islands students in private homes on Salt Spring Island.

The dormitory on Ganges Hill is the former Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital. It was opened in 1912 as a hospital and in 1958 it was aband oned for the present site commanding Ganges Harbour.

Parents of children on the outer islands sought the provision of a dormitory several years ago . Daily transportation was not popularly supported. Previously, students on Salt Spring Island were accommodated in private

What! No Stamps?

Visitor to Salt Spring Island last week was bitter about postage rates.
She had written a number of letters home. When she went to the post office there were no one-cent stamps to gment the six-cent stamps she had in her possession.

She mailed her letters with cight cents on each.

To be safe in future, the critic bought two books of stamps.

On Saturday she realized that the post office books cannot be made up into multiples of seven cents. Not even the post office knew the rate had gone up, she Not even the post office

GIANT BIRD FLIES NO MORE

Eagle Shot At Long Harbour

Large eagle shot in Long Harb-our area. Last week a large bald headed eagle was shot through the head by "gun happy" vandals

Les Jackson found the eagle on the roadway to his home. Tom-my Munday reported that its mate circled the area for two days evidently hoping that the large bird would recover.

'n spite of the direct hit in the t dhe bird put up a fight to remain alive as smaller feathers were found covering a ten or twelve loot diameter where he fell. This seems to indicate a struggle to keep alive in spite of an obviously fatal wound.

The eagle find was reported and the bird buried by Allen S. Cunningham. Mr. Cunningham reported that its wing span when spread fully was approximately six feet.

This is the second eagle to be shot in the lower Vancouver Island area in recent weeks.

This magnificent bird feeds mainly on small rodents. It has a stereoscopic vision far superior to human vision.

The eagles have several nests in the Galiano area.

The eagle is a protected species. Once plentiful in Oregon, they have been completely wiped out by DDT poisoning. It is possible that they may only be just holding their own in a battle for survival in B. C. The offence for shooting of an eagle is up to a $300 fine and 3 months in jail.

Police should be notified immediately upon observation of such an offence. Police were too busy on the week end to in-vestigate this particular incident and the find was made too long after the kill to hope to make ar arrest. However, anyone know-ing anything about this incident should notify police.

Governments can control the issuance of poisons but it is only an alert citizenry that can control the slaughter of an endangered species, warned Mr. Cun-

SIX WAS NOT ENOUGH

ARE THEY HUNGRY . . OR THE NEXT TO GO?

What killed the swallows? Mrs. R.G. Crosby, of Tripp Road, on St. Mary Lake, start-ed the enquiry three weeks ago when she reported many dead birds around the lake. Almost immediately there was a response from other lakeside residents who had found the birds dead in their nests.

Within days reports were heard from other parts of Salt Spring Island of the discovery of the dead swallows.

The figure rose from the initial dozens into hundreds.

Reports came into DRIFT -

WOOD of dead swallows in all parts of the province. Readers in Victoria and in Sidney repor-ted the finding of more birds.

Almost all were swallows. Mrs. Crosby has received letters from many communities adding to the total toll. So many wrote to her that she has been unable to reply in acknowledgment.

There have been ornithologists and television crews and reporters from newspapers up and down the coast.

Numbers of swallows returning south this fall will be sadly depleted.

What could be done to ascertain the cause of their death? The University of British Columbia was informed and six carcases were sent for examination. There were not enough carcases to carry out an examination. came back the report.

A number of biologists were contacted, but none was interest-

There were many suggestions. A number of readers suggested that the birds were dying of starvation. Cold, wet summer had clamped down on the incidence of insects and the swallows were without their natural food. A swallow must collect its own weight in insects to feed its broad each day, observed an islander. Thus, it was likely they were dying of hunger.

But the University could not support this diagnosis. Six carcases was not sufficient. The layman was left to wonder how many must die in order to find out what killed them.

That was not a reasonable theory, charged another islander. She had been attracted to the death of the swallows when the birds were fluttering and dying in her garden. Starving birds would lack the energy shown by those she had seen, she stated.

Another islander looked askance at spraying of the golf course. It had been sprayed with a toxic substance, he charged and this could have been ingested by the birds.

But no birds in Sidney or Victoria, or beyond, had been near the island golf course.

Perhaps the answer will never be known. Only remaining question for islanders is to wonder why the disinterest.

Are biologists bored by the enquiries of rank amateurs? Or are they fearful of what they might find?

"We are poisoning ourselves," screams the announcer. "Fish and birds and animals are dying," glare the headlines. Are the swallows hungry or are they merely the next to go? Nobody seems to know or care very much.

There was a large bald eagle standing in the shallows at low tide yesterday...he was trying to pick up some lively crawlies or fish, but a seagull kept sky-diving at him, scaring every-thing in sight, including the big brave eagle, it seemed; he de-cided to leave for more peaceful territory.

Hummingbirds are out by the dozens, tiny fellows, so must be the small fry that have hatched out successfully. This is reassuring in face of the death toll amongst the tree swallows. RECYCLING DEPOT IS OPENED IN CITY FOR RECLAMATION Project Recycle has opened a new central depot at 4026 Bord-en Street, in Victoria.

This is important news to the Salt Spring Island SPEC group who are planning to utilize this depot in September for the disposal of island materials.

Mrs. Barbara Corry, Project Recycle executive member, is encouraged by the increasing demand for neighborhood collection boxes.

Anyone is welcome to visit the depot to learn first hand what recycling is all about. Vis-itors will see what materials are collected for resorting, storing and shipment to the firms that will reprocess the materials into useful articles.

It was a quarter the size of a doll-ar bill and filled the need at that time owing to a shortage of of silver coins. The end of the month approaches rapidly and the big day of '71 celebrations will be on us. There will be food and fun for all, on July 31 when the Cent-ennial '71 project is opened at 2 p.m. at Drummond Park. There will be entertainment on a barge anchored just off shore and there may be Indian canoes and dancing. Square dancing will be featured. Sports and races will be provided for the children, for this park was donated by the late Capt. L.D.B. Drummond with children in mind, so everything will be geared for the youngsters.

But grown-up youngsters will have as much fun and there will be an exciting barbecue to feed the hungry. Next week, it is hoped to have the program laid out, and you'd better believe me, it will be good! Fine weather has been ordered - why didn't someone think of that before? BUT should the weather go back on us, celebrations will be held in the Fulford Hall. There will be a dance at night in the Hall. The whole community is asked to assist in making this the best-ever do that Salt Spring Island has ever seen and there have been some dillics, so they'll have to go some. Remember, July 31st, for the whole of Salt Spring Island, and the other islands, and the visitors from the Cities, come and help us celebrate.

to be frank -

By Richards

Accountant some years ago was examining the books of a Vancouver Island operation. He asked the manager whether any check was kept on the cashiers. "We don't have to," explained the manager, "They all have more money at the end of the day than when they started."

Very old joke department: Operator was working on a machine in a factory when he leaned over and caught the heavy flat leather driving belt. He was whipped off the floor and went up over the pulley and down with the belt and under the pulley and up and down un-til another worker had the bright idea of stopping the machines. They removed the victim and laid him on the workshop floor and him on the workshop floor and his workmate examined him anxiously. "Speak to me," he begged, "come on, speak to me!" The injured man opened one eye slowly. "Why should I speak to you?" he enquired hoarsely, "I went past you 50 times and you never said a word!

Muriel Wilson, who once lived at Beaver Point and operated Solimar, was on Salt Spring Island on Sunday. She visited Fulford and she visited Ganges, but she explained she couldn't go to Solimar. She and Jim had spent some delightful years at Beaver Point and to go back to see it would bring back too many poi-gnant memories. While she was on the island Mrs. Wilson wrote of many things. When she moved to Victoria she turned her eye regularly to the cook stove and has written on recipes in the Victoria Colonist for many years

Gulf Islands Cleaners would be half way there with All the Dirt. Bob Blundell could publish Blundell's Blunders and Don Hull, of Bill's Taxi would be editor of the Blunderbus. At Island Garage Bill Trelford could only have the Islands Gasette and Mouat's could settle for Islands Marrket-The possibilities are ending. The possibilities less. Any suggestions?

Last week there was a comment made about the startled resident of Salt Spring Island who lifted his telephone receiver and heard a prayer on the line. He was listening to Dial-a-Prayer. Said one reader, "Impossible! Dial-a-Prayer isn't on a party line!" And how right she is! But a telephone subscriber on a party line is permitted to dial the Dial-a-Prayer number. And then...all subscriber on his par-ty line will hear the message if they happen to lift their receivers while the voice is going on !

Cy Porter, of Vancouver and sometime of Mayne, was among the week end's casualties. He struck a deadhead while in his boat off the islands. Quick patchwork job took him into Whaler's Bay where he lay until he got a tow to Sidney. There are always too many deadheads in these waters.

Who's scared? On Sunday I found myself the only male among the 20 plus members of the Canadian Women's Press Club lunching at Harbour House. Could have been tougher. They could have been the Women's Lib and me the only diner who hadn't burned his bra. Odd thing hadn't burned his bra. Odd thing is they invited me and then discussed how they could keep the men out, while I was wondering how I got in. It was a good lunch and I had a Scotch for the first time ever in a restaurant on a Sunday here. See how they lead you astray?

Smartest visitor for some time was the fellow who explained the other day that he never reads anything about pollution or deterioration of the environment. At least his future is bright.

Visits to Britain are popular. Said Charles Horel on his return. If you buy a car in London it pays to buy a farm in Devon so you have somewhere to park it. Said another visitor to DRIFT-WOOD, back from Britain, if they get any more immigrants into England, it will sink into the ocean...and they'll go down, giggling. Traffic seems to be a big problem in a small country where everyone must have a car. Just like home!

TAX AND POT LUCK INCOME

BY PICNICKER Sunday's NDP Picnic was a pleasant affair, in spite of the weather.

Members and friends of the local NDP Club and guests from the Saanich and the Islands Provincial Constituency Association crowded the Beaver

Tommy Douglas assured visitors that he would not give a political speech and then proceeded to explain that the Benson budget was grossly unfair to people in the middle and lower income brackets and fails to correct old injustices in the tax

He said that a man who makes an income of $6,000 by his own labor pays $1,280.50 in tax, which is $1,080.50 more than the man who makes an income of $6,000 from invested capital.

PLEASE! DON'T RUSH INTO ANYTHING!

There is no school dormitory. The dormitory at Ganges is closed; perhaps for three months or perhaps for good.

School trustees have announced their decision in face of a lack of a suitable candidate for the position. Outer islands parents have expressed criticism of the decision and Mr. J.M. Campbell, of Saturna, himself a former trustee, has charged that the lack of an administrator is due to the lack of adequate searching.

There must be more to it than that.

The basic question is one for the parents of outer islands children rather than the trustees. In an age of indiscipline, unprecedented distractions and a technological morality, the practice of relinquishing parental supervision for five days out of every seven carries a grave responsibility.

When trustees proposed a system of daily transportation earlier in the year many were fearful of the hazards of sailing the inland seas in winter storm. Better that students be away from home for a week at a time, they urged, than face the perils of the sea.

They must not lose sight of the fact that there are perils in both directions.

We can sympathize with Mr. Campbell's concern. But the trustees would be yet more properly called upon to resign if they were to nominate a supervisor with a view to appeasing the indignation of parents rather than ensuring the well-being of the students to be supervised

The loss of parental supervision represented by dormitory life is a detriment even with first-class supervision. It would be deplorable, indeed, with any other.

Letters to the Editor

INCLUDE US ALL!

Editor, Driftwood,

Two active organizations on Salt Spring Island are only doing half a job. Perhaps they don't know it and perhaps they haven't even given it any thought.

The Salt Spring Island Rate-payers' Association would speak for more ratepayers if they arranged their meetings at the end of the week to permit folks like us to attend their meetings. We work in Vancouver, but our home is on Salt Spring Island. It costs too much in time and money for people like us to get over to a mid-week meeting. I think there must be a lot of folk in the same position as us who would welcome week end meetings so that we could join the di-

Editor, Driftwood, Now that the census is completed, I would appreciate this opportunity to thank all those who were so helpful and considerate on both North and South Pender Islands. And a special thanks to those persons whom I did not have an opportunity of meeting; but left census forms completed at some convenient

ENEMY IS MAN

Editor, Driftwood, In your issue of July 1 there was a small item about swallows being killed.

The same thing happened at Cranberry Lake at Powell River some four years ago. I have 12 nest boxes around the place and a few years back all would be occupied; of late years only a It was discovered that some local authorities had poured a large quanitity of some arsenical mixture into the lake supposedly to kill mites that bothered the swimmers, mostly children. When the swallows dived to pick up flies they would also pick up a small drop of water, or else the insect was already poisoned. Anyway, the young died in the nests of five and the eggs were deserted in one.

It is a strange law that if a person illtreats or kills a dog or cat he is liable to prosecution but some stupid tinpot authority can spew poison around and it seems to be quite lawful.

Mother Nature's biggest enemy is the so-called human. We can wreck the world in the name of progress, and the apath-etic public doesn't seem concerned.

REPORT WAS IN ERROR

Editor, Driftwood,

In a recent issue of your publication "The Driftwood" was an item stating that Frouida Ba-ker had been a 1st place winner in the Holland International Festival.

Please be advised this is NOT SO. The ladies section of the Vancouver Bach Choir won first place honors in their section of the Holland International Choir Festival and I was only a member of this group. The mixed choir came third in their class, and I also sang with them.

Both Choirs were the Vancou-ver Bach Choir and NOT a church choir.

Would you please, in your next issue of "Driftwood" corr-cet these items? Thank you. (Miss) Frouida M. Baker.

CHEAPSKATES?

Editor, Driftwood,

Today, July 6, the Gulf Isl-ands School Board held a regular meeting on Saturna Island, which I attended as an interested ob-SCIVCI.

A delegation from Pender Island attended to protest the clos-ing of the dorm, and a few peo-ple from Saturna were there to get answers on the same subject and other matters such as the Library and teaching staff on the outer Islands.

As discussion went on I found myself getting emotionally involved and could not contain myself when the question period came up at the end of the meeting. I do not know how many of your readers ever attend a board meeting but it was a shock to me to listen for over two hours of business regarding schools, and in that time only once by any member was the word "Education" brought up. and that was in reference to the "Library being the heart of edu-

It would appear that anything is good, even the resignation of the librarian if it means saving money and getting closer to the 110% budget.

It is a sad state of affairs when elected representatives of this school district become nothing more than a rubber stamp of the Department of Education without real protest or even def-iance if the needs of the district calls for it.

The department has never contributed its fair share to this district. If and when it does I might agree that it is entitled to have its say, but in the mean time the board should concern itself with education or resign as a body and help elect people who will put education ahead of the few measly dollars that comes forth from the department.

HELP, ANYONE?

Editor, Driftwood,

Through the medium of Driftwood may I thank the Depart-ment of Highways and their District Engineer, Mr. E. A. Lund, for supplying the topsoil, grass seed, fertilizer and water connection which has enabled Mr. and Mrs. Stepaniuk and family, together with a small group of interested adults and Grace 7 stu dents to make such a tremendous improvement to the appearance of the traffic islands in Ganges.

Thanks are also due to our local road foreman, Mr. Hector Gerow, his assistant, Mr. Ken Stevens, and to the road crew for their co-operation in trucking topsoil to the area.

It is planned to give the grass sufficient time to become properly established and then to plan suitable shrubs and possibly flowers in an arrangement which will provide a really attractive centrepiece for the Village.

At the time the Department of Highways made their generous offer to our community it was agreed they would not be held responsible for maintenance of the project after completion. It would be appreciated therefore, if those interested in assist-

On Sunday July 4, Penisle gar-den in the Grimmer Valley, on Pender, up from Grimmer Bay, blossomed with friends as well as flowers.

Grimmer Road crawled with cars bringing oldtimers and new-comers, who know Nep and Dorothy as very special people.

It was the 48th anniversary for Jack and Flo Bridge and Jack, of the golden tongue, scattered nuggets of affection and wit. Addie Amies Logan scattered $100 bills from the community. A gold purse with $100 for Dorothy. A wallet with a similar goldmine for Nep.

At evening the house was changed into something rich and strange, struck by a gilded avalanche of presents. Mantel, bookcases, tables, glinted with cards. Rooms basked in a golden glow of china, linen, yellow roses. Everything for a 50th anniversary. And Joan Purchase's fancy goodies were goodier than

This may seem a trivial matter to many, but these unclaimed articles represent hundreds of dollars, and mirror a lack of responsibility on the part of students and parents. In our "affluent society" so-called, there is a great disregard for the value and care of property. It cannot be expected that teachers should have the responsibility for each possession and each cold. sion and each child.

QUALITY MUST COME BEF

There were two important issues before the School Board

when it met at Saturna this week These were the dormitory and the library.

It was discovered that at the June meeting the board members decided that unless the personnel committee was satisfied that a suitable person for matron could be found the dormitory would be closed. At the same time they set conditions most likely to ensure failure in the search. For example: the search period was confined to the last two weeks in June for a job which did not start until September; the scope of the search was restricted to an ad in DRIFTWOOD and an application to Manpower (no general adver-tising was done). Experience in being a dormitory matron was a prime requirement. The board appeared gratified but not surprised at the failure.

It is interesting that the board announced its decision to close the dormitory before the July meeting in a letter to parents. The letter suggested that a boarding allowance might be paid and advised parents to apply. It did not state the amount or the conditions for the allow-

At the meeting the board flatly refused to extend the period and scope of the search for a matron and did not make a decision on boarding allowances in spite of requests from the public present.

The impression that the foregoing travesty had something to do with money was hard to

The most important item on the agenda, however, was the resignation of the librarian.

The Board's sorrow at losing a very well-qualified and key staff member was assuaged to the point of ill-concealed delight when it was pointed out that they could save some money by not hiring a replacement. It is true that not all members agreed with this decision, but the opposition was so ignorant of their prerogatives and so inept at boardmanship that they could merely sputter and weep.

The finance chairman then sought and got approval to bring in further cuts in the Gulf Islands schools in August.

What is the trouble and how can it be corrected?

The trouble stems from the fact that at budget time the Board suffered from an irrational desire to conform to a provincial average expenditure, rather than to budget for the very unaverage educational problems of a unique school district.

The cuts in established practices and programs involve severe reductions in quality and quantity of staff, reductions in library budget, teaching aids and materials. They also include deferred maintenance.

The cure will be the more costly the longer it is deferred. What is needed is a clear expres sion by the public of the Gulf Islands that they do not want a substandard educational program in the Gulf Islands.

There are two good reasons why the public should be willing to do this. The first is the obvious one, that is, the inherent importance of a good education system to a community.

The second is simply this. If the education system is inferior the case for amalgamation and loss of local autonomy becomes stronger.

At present it is possible to op-erate an excellent system at a lower-than-average mill rate here because of the small numbers of students in relation to toral assessments. However, if this school Board continues to degrade the system and amalgamation becomes the obvious case, a sharp and severe rise in taxes to the Saanich rate is cer-

CAR RUNS INTO SEA AS DRIVER IS SHAKEN

Car driven by a North Van-couver visitor ran off Fernwood Road early on Monday morning.

Driver Robert T. Leggett re-ported that he fell asleep at the wheel. He was rudely awakened when the vehicle continued across Walker Hook Road and crashed onto the beach.

OUCH By H.J.CARLIN

How to stay young: You'll always be young if you live honestly, eat slowly, sleep sufficiently, work industriously, worship faithfully...and lie about your age.

"Sir, I have a question of great importance to ask you...Have I your consent to marry your Jaughter?"

"Do you drink, young man?"
"Thanks, Pop--but let's settle this other tiring first."

We opened a savings account and the bank gave us a toaster. Now we'll have to withdraw some bread.
