Big crowd to hear of plan

— Mayne Island

About 120 people were present at a meeting held on May 14 at Mayne Island to discuss the Mayne Island Community Plan.

Concern was expressed over a few various aspects of the 18-page plan but, according to Foye Miles, former Islands Trustee, it was generally well-accepted.

Tax concessions for keeping green-belt areas as well as strata-title developments which are taking place on the island were two of the topics discussed, said John Mundie of Mayne Island, this week.

The plan, which has been draughted and re-draughted four times, was put together by a committee of nine islanders.

Chairman of the meeting was Regional Board chairman Jim Campbell.

Legion dance at Legion Hall on Saturday

First time since it was rebuilt the Legion Hall in Ganges will be the scene of the regular Legion Dance on Saturday night.

The dances are restricted to 45 couples and on Saturday all 45 will enjoy the added facilities at the Ganges centre.

HOSPITAL MEETINGS THIS WEEK THROUGH ISLANDS

Annual General Meeting of the Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital is being held this week. The second annual meeting of the Gulf Islands Intermediate and Personal Care Society is also being held, following the annual meeting of the hospital.

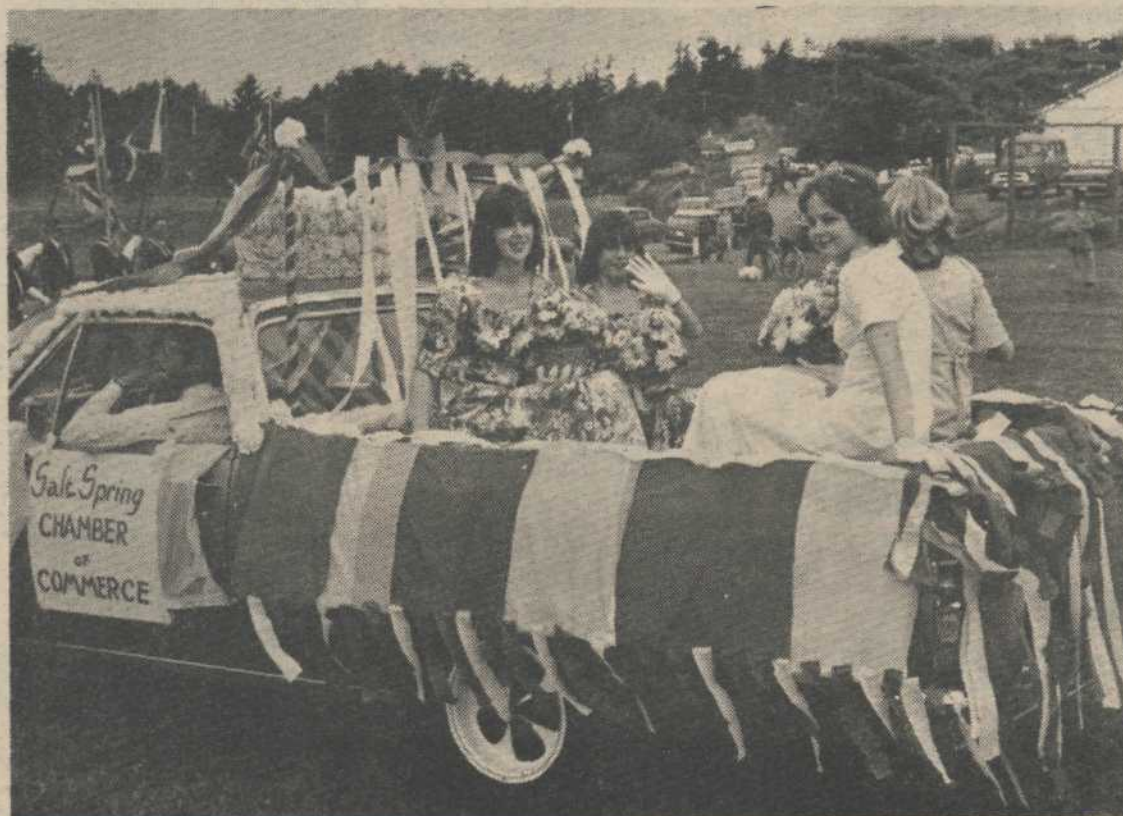

Meeting was held at Mayne and Galiano Islands on Wednesday and on Thursday will bring the same meeting to Pender and Saturna Islands. On Salt Spring Island the meeting is to take place on Friday evening at Mahon Hall.

Five members are to be elected to the hospital board of management; three from Salt Spring Island, one from Galiano and one from Saturna and Samuel Islands.

Retiring members on Salt Spring are P.D. Lee, W.G. Henderson and Mrs. W.J. Stepaniuk. Both Mr. Henderson and Mrs. Stepaniuk are eligible for re-election while Mr. Lee is not, having served three consecutive three-year terms. The terms of Mrs. M. Whillans, of Galiano Island, and Mrs. J. Campbell, of Saturna, have also expired. They are both eligible for re-election.

Three members are to be elected to the board of trustees of the Gulf Islands Intermediate and Personal Care Society, two

PUBLIC HEARING TO ENQUIRE INTO VESUVIUS APARTMENT

A public hearing is to be held on Tuesday, May 31 to enquire into an application by George Heinekey, of Salt Spring Island, for a land-use contract.

The contract would permit Mr. Heinekey to build a 26-unit apartment building on Goodrich Road at Vesuvius Bay.

The land-use contract does not require a change in the zoning of the property. If Mr. Heinekey is granted the contract, it will enable him to build the apartment and nothing more. It will not allow for any other enterprise.

Hearing is to be held at the Legion Hall, Ganges, at 1.30 pm.

Students lie on roadway

Safety of students travelling between school and home was considered by trustees of Gulf Islands School District last week.

Trustees were informed that on at least one occasion students lay on the road and dared motorists to run them down.

There are numbers of students walking on the road between Mayne School and Miners Bay, board was told and the road is without sidewalks or footpaths.

Board will ask department of highways for assistance in providing room on the shoulder where students can walk.

Building permits still trailing 1976 as first totals are listed

A total of 20 building permits was issued in the Gulf Islands during the month of April. The figure is the same as that for March and is down by six from last year.

On Salt Spring Island, ten permits for single family dwellings and one for a duplex were issued, at a value of $468,409. In April, 1976, 19 permits were issued at a value of $704,968.

On Pender Island there were two permits issued, value was $81,000; Mayne Island, three permits, $96,059; and Piers Island, one permit, $17,000. Biggest increase was on Galiano Island where three permits were issued at a value of $214,525. All of the above were for single family dwellings. No permits were issued for Saturna Island.

In April, 1976, there were five permits issued on Pender

Island at a value of $196,066; Mayne, two permits at $42,700. There were no building permits issued on Galiano and Saturna Islands during that month.

Figures for January to April, 1977, are Salt Spring, 36 permits at $1,409,244; Pender, 19 permits at $521,069; Galiano, seven permits at $352,745; Mayne, nine permits at $279,261; Saturna, one permit at $46,480; and Piers Island, one permit at $17,000.

For the first four months of 1976, 66 permits were issued on Salt Spring Island, at a value of $2,282,197; on Pender, 21 permits at $626,733; Galiano, five permits at $388,884; Mayne, 14 permits at $389,074; and Saturna, one permit valued at $18,950.

Figures were released last week by the Capital Regional District.

Core debate brings exchange

Core curriculum pressed by the ministry of education in this province has had a beneficial side effect, Trustee Nonie Guthrie commented at last week's meeting of the Gulf Islands School Board.

"The discussions provide teachers with an opportunity of exchanging notes," said the trustee.

She was reporting on various meetings with district teachers on curriculum.

"I am confident we are doing what is required on the core curriculum and a great deal more," she told the board.

Evaluation has been the big problem, added Ann Foerster.

"I have been heartened by the meetings," she added.

New bus to cost $33,700

Purchase of a new 84-passenger school bus for Salt Spring Island was approved by Gulf Islands School Board last week.

The bus will cost $33,702.86 and delivery will be in about six months.

Trustees approved the Bluebird vehicle in preference to a second bid of $38,995.53.

Trade-in value of the old bus, with better than 200,000 miles to its credit, was $1,700.

The royal party arrives on the school grounds in Ganges on Saturday. Car was provided by Gulf Islands Auto Sales. Party drove from here to the stage for the formal crowning ceremonies.

Commission to meet May 30

Next meeting of the Salt Spring Island Parks and Recreation Commission is scheduled for Monday, May 30.

Meeting will be held in Room six at Gulf Islands Secondary School at 8 pm.

Car rolls on Stewart Road

Victoria man, Roderick Owen-Flood overturned his Honda Civic on the weekend.

Accident occurred on Stewart Road on Sunday evening. Owen-Flood lost control of his vehicle at the checkerboard along the switchback. Damage resulting was estimated at $350.

Islands plane flies in to Ganges

Ever seen that before? The Victoria Flying Services plane is coming in to land on Ganges Harbour as he makes his descent over the top of Harbour House Hotel.

Green paint costs driver fine of $20

Robert Cossitt, of Pender Island, was fined a total of $270 on two charges under the Motor Vehicle Act, when he appeared in Ganges Court last Wednesday.

He was stopped by RCMP on Salt Spring Island, May 1. Police found that the decals on Cossitt's license plates had been painted on with green paint. He was also found to be driving without valid insurance.

Judge D.K. McAdam told Mr. Cossitt that it seemed as though he was playing a game.

"I don't think of it as a game", added the judge.

Cossitt, who had pleaded guilty to both charges, was fined $250 for driving without insurance, and $20 for painting the license plate decals.

SATURNA SCENE

BY KUKLOS

Jack Saunders 'Scene in Passing': The Saunders are back from their trip abroad where they visited numerous close relatives. Jimmy at his new home in North Vancouver, Kathy in Richmond, Barbara in Tsawwassen (I have finally learned how to spell that place-name). Also a short visit with Gordie Campbell at his new digs near Queen Elizabeth Park. Then a couple of hours with Barney and Jean Shepherd, Maries's friends in Burnaby, well-known on the Island. All are well now with the incipient summer taking effect.

NO SMOKING IN THE CAR WASH! We visited on of those "Keep the engine running and pray" establishments. A hinge on one of the fly windows broke while we were in the process and we got a thorough wash inside as well as outside. A change of clothes was needed when we squished home. Smokes and matches soggy and hard to light.

A musical note: Frank and Mary Copeland were in Vancouver during the week end to hear a singing recital at the Orpheum. They report that the sound from the amplifiers was so great they couldn't hear the music. Now they're off to Nanaimo for a few days to catch up with their friends and relatives on the Big Island.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Gulf Islands Historicals will be having their Annual Meeting at Saturna School on Sunday, June 5. Election of officers, annual reports of committees with special report by Mrs. C. McAllister on the essay contest. Yearly dues are payable now, so bring your money, $1.50 each, and have a vote.

Jim and Ray Wood have been making like little beavers for a week or so but are leaving on the morning ferry for a brief stay in Vancouver. Back next week to continue work on the house. It won't be long before the Woods will have one of the showplaces of Saturna. Did you know that Jim put in every tree growing on their property? Take a look sometime when you're going by and see how many different kinds of trees you can count.

Dora Carney has acquired tenure of the Chair of Carpentry on the Boot Cove Campus. Shelving being installed, hanging and standing, furniture and appliances being moved about and I don't know what all. She says the place is a mess so we shall stay away for a little while as we might be handed a broom and dustpan to keep us out of (or get us into) mischief. Reports from Joe and Adrian are excellent.

Finally Jack Vincent got lost. I didn't think it could happen. He started out for the Driftwood Saturna Scene but never arrived in the paragraph the other week about Lucille Broten. Whatever happened, Jack, we are sorry and apologize." ***

NUTRITION WORKSHOP

Plans for the Nutrition Workshop at the Hall on Sunday, June 5, continue to gather momen-

To schedule grounds in holidays

Ray Tenisci will be responsible for scheduling of summer holiday use of school grounds.

Last week the Salt Spring Island Recreation Commission proposed that the allocation of facilities be undertaken by the Commission as in past years.

tum. Phyllis Coleman, registered nurse, from Salt Spring Island, will be available with information about improving one's health and life style with emphasis on diet, exercise, attention to lessening the stress in our environment, and acquiring a more positive outlook. The workshop will be from 10 to 5, with an especially healthy and delicious lunch for $1.50 on hand for those who wish. Otherwise, the fee for registration is $5, and information regarding transportation from other Gulf Islands, or elsewhere, can be obtained from Gloria Smith, at 539-2229.

Also in the exercise department, the school children are gearing up for the Sports Day competition to be held at Ganges on Friday, May 27. The field has been limed for practice.

EXERCISE

A number of parents are also taking early note of all the activity, and getting more running, walking and jogging exercise of their own.

Taimi Hindmarch, on Monday, journeyed to Mayne Island after school to attend a principals' conference. She returned home refreshed from the sharing of ideas, and much impressed by

Trees at Fulford are traffic hazard trustees are agreed

Traffic hazard at the junction of Fulford-Ganges Road and Beaver Point Road was under fire at last week's meeting of the Gulf Islands School Board in Ganges.

Trees obstruct the view around the corner as a vehicle approaches Fulford from Ganges.

ges, board was told.

Trees should be cut, it was suggested.

They are not on the Quentin Wilson property, it was agreed, but he might object to their being cut.

The whole sorry problem of traffic flow at the top of Fulford Hill will be passed on to the department of highways.

Which lens should I buy ?

.... Wide-angle, tele or zoom ?

BY ROLLY FORD

When you graduate from a simple pocket camera to a 35mm single lens reflex (SLR), your picture-making possibilities are limited only by your imagination, your know-how and your bank balance.

A typical SLR system offers a choice of 30 or more lenses, plus a wide range of camera accessories. Assuming you want maximum flexibility at minimum cost, which lenses and accessories should you put at the head of your buying list?

The lens that comes with the camera will probably handle most of your average subjects. It needs a lenshood.

Collapsible lenshoods are available for less than $3 and improve image contrast and color saturation by minimizing the effects of off-angle light.

LENSHOOD

Buy a lenshood when you buy the camera. Keep it on the camera at all times, indoors or outdoors, when your camera is at work.

A polarizing filter should come next on your shopping list. The polarizer dramatically improves outdoor color shots by darkening the sky and reducing glare and reflections. These degrade the colour and detail in your pictures. Cost is usually under $15.

A tripod and a cable release come next on the list. They are a must for night photography, available light indoors and whenever long exposures are required.

Now that you have your tripod, you are ready for your zoom lens. A zoom with a range of approximately 85-210mm is ideal for many situations, ranging from portraits to nature studies and distant sceneries. Buy a good quality zoom. Some of the cheaper zooms can be disappointing, if not completely disastrous.

WIDE-ANGLE

A wide-angle lens enables you to work in close quarters. The 28mm wide-angle covers twice the width of your normal lens and gets top priority on most lists, with the 35mm wide-angle a close second.

If nature photography is your prime interest, a mirror-optic in the 500mm, 800mm or 1200mm brings you closer to your subject. With the 1200mm lens you can see the muscle structure of an eagle's eye at 30 feet. It will also make a sizeable dint in your camera budget, averaging out at $1 per mm. Don't forget camera insurance.

Weird effects? Try a fisheye. Close-ups? A set of No. 1, 2 and 3 close-up adapters will fit in front of your regular lens and bring you in close for copying and photographing flowers.

An extension bellows or a set of extension tubes brings you even closer, for 1-to-1 or same-size images. Great for the science fair series and similar projects!

The close-up camera accessories are relatively inexpensive and open up a broad new territory.

Card of Thanks

The "Salt Spring Kicks Soccer Team" would like to thank the community for their tremendous support towards our planned trip to Europe in June 1978.

Our fund-raising activities have included so far Christmas trees sale, Candy-house raffle, firewood cutting, soccer day concession and bottle drives. (Please, save your bottles, because the boys will be around in the near future to collect them.)

Special thanks to the Valcourt merchants for sponsoring our coffee and sandwich stand on May Day.

My name is Popkin-Clurman
It's really rather strange
After thirty years a Johnson
I find it quite a change.

No longer am I asked
"Is that Johnstone with a 'T'
Or do you spell it Johnson
And finish with an 'E'?"

So when you're calling Lois
Just shout out, "Hey P.C.!"
And Mrs. Popkin-Clurman
Will know that you mean me.

A piping pan

I think I see with mortal eyes,
A piping Pan among the trees,
But swift he flies.

Just a whisper, fairy light,
He pipes to me of love,
So piercing sweet.

On the breeze is borne
A sound too vague to chart,
So faint, forlorn.

I hesitate, then depart
On dancing feet to live -
His neophyte.

When I was a child I had my own museum. Originally it was a biology museum and contained such things as a shark's tooth, a sea-urchin shell, and a huge barnacle. When an aunt gave me a coconut carved in the shape of a head (complete with pipe), and an uncle presented me with a terrible wooden carving from the Philippines, it became a general museum.

saving items from the past.

It is a duty of organized groups to save memorabilia. Items in common use today are the curiosities of tomorrow. Photographs, tools, and documents change from junk to antiques in a distressingly short period of time.

What is all this doing in a medical column? Two things. First, it is an appeal to any readers who may have bits and pieces of old medical equipment. We would like to hear about them.

Secondly, it is an invitation to visit the medical archives display at the Academy of Medicine 1807 West 10th Avenue, Vancouver. The fascinating items that have been collected by the B.C. Medical Association are of interest to all.

The collection includes the trappings of the Shamans (medicine men) of the province, early surgical equipment, and medical saddlebags used by our pioneer doctors as they made their rounds on horseback. There is much more.

If you have Granny's old enema jar, and old pill bottle or box, or if your grandfather was an early physician in B.C. and you have a photograph of him, please let us know. We have an active Archives Committee searching for just this type of material.

What better way to honour the memory of a deceased physician-relative than to donate some of his now medically useless but historically valuable instruments and paraphernalia to the Academy? Much better to display them there than have them moulder in the basement for years and eventually be thrown out.

If you have such items and would consider donating them (some funds are available for the purchase of rarer material) please contact me at the Academy's address or c/o this newspaper.

Wet Powell River greets players

BY DRAW BACK

An entourage of 30 Salt Spring soccer players, 15 boys from the Salt Spring Orange and 15 players from the Salt Spring Girls, and three chaperons travelled 200 miles northward to Powell River for one of B.C.'s largest invitational soccer tournaments. Although the teams failed to bring back any trophies they both enjoyed two days of soccer and camping under warm sunny weather conditions.

Upon arrival in Powell River on Friday evening the players were greeted with a downpour of rain. Even so the groups organized themselves quickly and soon had tents up, fires burning and food being prepared. Most of the evening was spent stoking fires to dry wet clothing and to keep warm.

Saturday saw both teams commence their scheduled games. The Orange played first and, through the luck of the draw, they drew the tournament favorite, Powell River Legion. The Orange drew first blood on a penalty shot by Wayne Reynolds and it appeared Salt Spring might pull an upset. Instead, the first goal seemed to infuriate the Legion to the point where they came back to demolish the Orange 12-2. Matt Carter scored Salt Spring's second goal on passes from Marty Legg and Jay Bourdin.

NO CONTEST

Half an hour later the Girls went into action against the Native Stars from Powell River.

It was no contest as the Girls tore the Stars to pieces to advance to the final. Two goals by Brenda Murray and singles from Shauneen Spence and Donna Moulton paced the Salt Spring attack, while strong defensive play was exhibited from Cathy Anderson, Sunday Byron, Teresa Byron, Susan Chew, Jenny Taylor and Angie Simard.

Saturday evening featured swimming and canoeing in Haslim Lake at the campsite and a concert in Powell River, featuring the group Trooper, sponsored by the Powell River soccer Association.

Sunday saw both teams in action again with the Girls playing first this time.

The game was against the progress Swingers of Powell River and could only be termed a classic game. Both teams were very evenly matched and they played 45 minutes of scoreless soccer before a goal was recorded. The Swingers notched the all important goal and in the dying moments scored an insurance marker to give them the trophy.

Even so, the Girls were in the match from beginning to the end and with a little Lady Luck they might have come out winners.

Salt Spring missed many chances to score but also received some excellent defensive work, notably Janice Hull in goal, to keep the Swingers at bay.

For Janice, a stand-out in goal all season long, it was her busiest and best performance in the nets this year as she made many tremendous saves and came up with a spectacular save on a penalty shot.

The swingers were an all star team made up of the best players in Powell River, which makes the Girls achievements even more rewarding for the team and their supporters - next year will be different!

INTO HOSPITAL

Shortly after the Girls' game the Orange went into action against the North Vancouver Vikings.

The boys showed tremendous desire throughout the game but their failure to capitalize on their numerous scoring opportunities allowed victory to slip away to the tune of a 5-0 score. The defence on Hughes, Stevens, Scott, Ronne and Howard played their finest game of the season and diminutive George Edwards, in goal was brilliant throughout the game until a collision sent him to hospital.

What made it worse was that his injury was caused by one of his own players.

The forwards and mid-field worked continuously in an attempt to score but the fire-power was lacking. Farup, Legg and Curtis were the sparks in offence with tremendous support from the remaining cast of characters.

Later that evening, swimming in the recreation centre and more canoeing finished off another day. The canoeing featured several dunking episodes, a massive collision and three broken paddles.

George Edwards, meanwhile was recuperating in hospital eating high off the hog, sleeping in a comfortable bed and having nurses running around fulfilling his every desire, while the rest of the team battled the hazards of nature.

Everyone joined in a sing around the campfire as Vicky 'Midget' Byron, Cathy Price and Kevin 'Foghorn' Davies played guitars and sang a variety of songs ranging from nursery rhymes to rugby songs.

Most of the players hit the sack early as fatigue was setting in after the long weekend.

HOMEWARD

Monday morning started early as the teams headed home-ward.

A weary group of players dragged themselves to the ferry, crawled down Vancouver Island and hopped back to Salt Spring for a long sleep back at home. For most if not all the players the trip was fun and they not only learned a few things about playing soccer but also learnt a lot about camping.

For the Girls the rewards may be even greater as they have been invited to participate in an exchange trip with a girls team from Washington State in August.

For the coach the trip was very enjoyable, both teams exhibited a tremendous effort in their Sunday matches and although they fell short in the win

COMMON MURRE

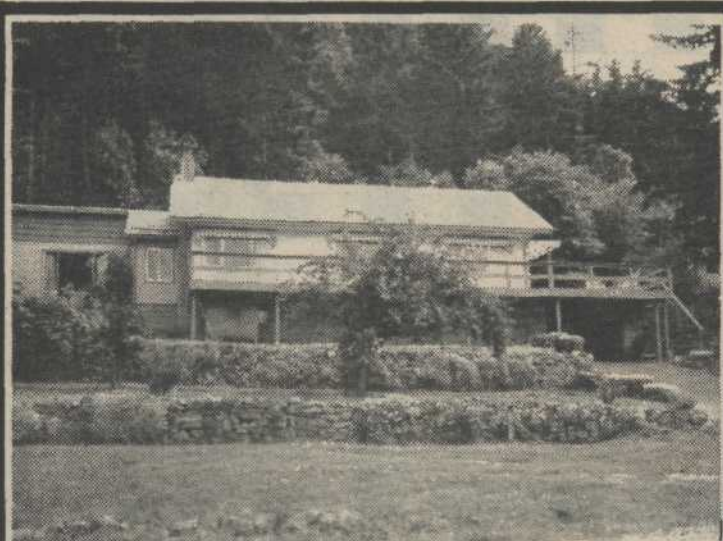

URIA AALGE

These two birds come on land only for nesting and spend the rest of the year offshore in favorable feeding waters. They nest in colonies on cliffs or among boulders and rocks and lay a single egg that is incubated for about a month.

They are good swimmers and obtain their food by diving at depths often reaching 20 metres. They occur mainly along the Atlantic coast and in some parts of the Arctic.

Some Common Murre colonies are enormous and may group nearly half a million birds.

Jack Webb, painter with a dozen moods . . .

BY FRANK RICHARDS

Jack Webb, the enigma among painters.

That's the first impression you get when you examine his work in the Kenton Gallery near Ganges.

The Blackburn Lake gallery is exhibiting Jack Webb's paintings this week. At least, the gallery is exhibiting some of his paintings. The remaining 150, he left at home.

It isn't the quantity of his work that hits you. It is the vast range.

He has painted landscapes here and in the northern climes, where snow is part of getting up in the morning. And he has flowers and abstracts.

Good-natured Salt Spring Islander who grins when someone takes a verbal swing at him, Jack doesn't make a song and dance about his hobby. He just goes to it and paints. The result is oddly pleasing. The oddness is that he offers something that appeals to more than half the viewers.

ALMOST ANY STYLE

They want flowers in a soft, delicate presentation? Jack Webb's your man. Or they want a near-photographic representation of a scene in the snow-filled woods? There it is. Or whatever!

The current display was an experience and a lesson.

A commercial artist before he settled on Salt Spring Island several years ago, Jack Webb paints for the satisfaction it affords him. And if you like the result, that's just an extra satisfaction.

Kenton Gallery, the home of the Luton family, lends itself particularly well to the exhibitions of paintings and other works of art which are featured from time to time. It is an asset to the island community, as many island artists have known for a long time.

On and off the island

Home from their native England are Dennis and Sanchia Seward. The island couple returned last week after five weeks in the old country visiting relatives.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Les Stevens, Quebec Drive, are Mr. and Mrs. John Burger of Port Elizabeth, South Africa.

One-car accident

Accident on Quebec Drive at Scott Road at the week end resulted in $300 worth of damage.

Ganges driver G.L. Denchfield lost control of his van around the turn, hitting loose gravel.

Accident occurred around 6.30 pm Saturday, May 21. Driver escaped without injury.

Bird brains

The Phoenix had a strange instinct:
The Dodo was born to lose:
The Auk decided to become extinct.
And the Kiwi no one would choose.

But what about the Puffin?
That wild hilarious bird,
Who looks just like a muffin!
He really is absurd.

column they proved to him that when they want to they can play an excellent brand of soccer.

He hopes the players enjoyed the trip and will continue this style of desire in the upcoming season. For now he plans to rest and recuperate for the next few months, well maybe weeks, would you believe days.

Second teacher in sight ?

Alternate Class and future considered by Board

Alternate class is accomplishing everything that it was hoped to achieve, trustees of Gulf Islands School Board were told last week.

On Thursday afternoon a delegation of parents of students in the alternate class outlined their problems and asked the board for a second teacher for the special group.

Marg Simons introduced the subject with the assurance that the alternate class is "a very pleasant place to be".

Enrolment is 22 and there is a waiting list which could augment that figure to about 32, she told trustees.

"It is a large number for only one teacher," she noted, "crossing grades and trying to accomplish all we want to do."

She tried to project into the future.

"Are we going to be a very selective group and be very choosy?" she asked, "but how about space? Not now, but in the future. What about space in the future?"

Chairman Charles Baltzer reminded the delegates that the alternate class is a part of the elementary school and is integrated with the population of the elementary school.

ALL THE SCHOOLS

The board must look at the staffing needs of the elementary schools throughout the islands, commented Superintendent Bob Huestis.

"It's all one package."

In a quick review of the class, it was suggested that the application of grades does not apply to a class which avoids grading and in which the students all join together, irrespective of age differences.

The classroom population is preponderantly young and the top level in English is better than grade 12, while the top level in math is probably between nine and 10.

These remarks were exchanged in an informal discussion.

In reply to a question from the chairman, Principal Reid Collins said that about 17 families are involved in the class of 22 students.

TWO OTHERS

Two other special classes are under consideration, reported Ann Foerster. The board is investigating a special class for gifted children and another as a remedial program.

"We must consider the best we can for every child and his needs," she told the meeting. She also noted that a new principal has been hired for the elementary school.

He will be extremely helpful, she suggested.

Ralph Miller introduced himself as a professional psychologist and told the board he was impressed with the class.

"I am impressed with the manner in which students relate to each other," he commented.

One parent referred to the possibility of a class for gifted children in which the ratio might be one teacher to 15 students.

Each special class is sized according to the need, replied the superintendent.

"If a class needs a limit of 15 students, we do that."

NO CLASS! NO SCHOOL!

Another parent expressed the view that if the alternate class is available, her children will attend, but if the class is not available, they will not go to school at all.

Basic allocation of teachers approved by the ministry of education is 30 students per teacher, observed Chairman Baltzer, but in special circumstances they will ease that stand to 20 students per teacher.

Mary Williamson observed that the present setting in the suite of the Mahon Hall makes the alternate class more like a family. This aspect is emphasized by the variation in ages, she said.

When Chairman Baltzer asked the principal of his reaction to moving into the elementary school, should space become available, Collins wanted to consider the question before offering a firm reply.

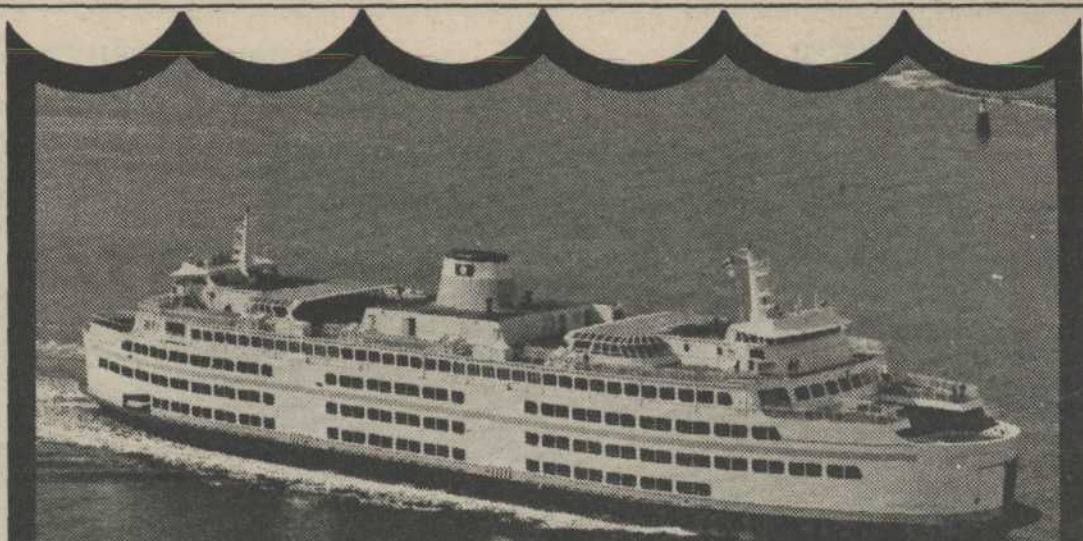

LESS STRUCTURED

The alternate class provides for a less structured instruction than is normal and it encourages a student to continue at his own pace rather than following a grade.

The class relies considerably on the resource centre of the school, he told trustees, particularly the school library.

Social Worker Nick Gilbert concluded the discussion with the observation that the alternate class is invaluable to him in his work when a child has failed to adapt to the conventional class.

The request was referred to the education committees.

It's all the product of Salt Spring soil displayed in Victoria!

There was a day when Salt Spring Island was the flourishing centre of a farming area. The Islands could grow anything and they mostly did. This early picture was presented by Colin Mount as a demonstration of the variety of crops once common here. The picture was taken in a show in Victoria and the time was about 50 years ago. Try counting the varieties.

Curtis program prepared

Hugh Curtis, minister of municipal affairs and member of the provincial legislature for Saanich and the Islands will formally open Mayne Island School on June 17.

The school is the first in the Outer Islands to cater to a group of islands in the provision of junior secondary subjects. It was designed and constructed for this purpose.

In addition to the visit of the Islands member, a list of distinguished island residents has been invited to take part.

On Thursday afternoon last week the Gulf Islands School Board made its final arrangements for the opening.

Two bays are for trustees

Trustees of Gulf Islands School Board were introduced last week by Chairman Charles Baltzer when a number of delegates attended upon the board.

During the introduction, Nonie Guthrie was identified as the trustee for Booth Bay and Ann Foerster as the representative of Duck Bay.

Sailing Club to hold annual regatta

Regatta time is here again as the Salt Spring Island Sailing Club plans its annual regatta this Saturday and Sunday, May 28 and 29.

Races are scheduled for Sabot, Dinghy and Cruiser class boats. Invitations have been extended to off-island clubs who wish to enter the competition.

Races can be viewed at the foot of Mount's wharf from 10-4 pm on Saturday and 9am - 2pm on Sunday.

A reminder to those wishing to inquire about joining the club:

please phone our secretary, Phyllis Sinclair, at 537-9327.

Collision costs $450 on Monday

Accident on Le Page Road resulted in $450 worth of damage. A '66 V.W. Beetle driven by islander Mark Beaner was rumpled in the side when it collided with a '67 Olds driven by Mrs. Carol Kaye of Le Page Road. Accident occurred on Monday evening. The Kaye vehicle sustained no excessive damage while the VW suffered approximately $400 worth of damage.

Rolls on corner

Eugene Grooms, of Salt Spring Island, rolled his van on Rock Crusher corner at 11.30 pm Saturday.

Grooms lost control of his vehicle on the corner while driving Fulford-Ganges Road. The mishap resulted in $300 worth of damage.
