

All candidates meeting held at Saturna

Regional board candidates outline concerns

BY BRIAN SOBER

Election candidates for the Outer Islands seat on the Capital Regional Board stated their concerns and promises at an all-candidates meeting held on Saturna Island Monday night.

Present at the meeting were Jim Campbell, candidate from Saturna, Weldon Pinchin from Mayne Island and Vern Roddick of Pender Island.

The meeting was sponsored by the Saturna Island Community Club and was chaired by the club's president, Lorraine Campbell.

Each of the three candidates was given seven minutes to state his platform before answering questions from the audience. At the end of the question period the contenders were allowed to give a three-minute summary of why they wanted to be a regional director.

Vern Roddick emphasized the need for greater representation on the board for the Outer Islands, namely Galiano and the Penders. He told the approximately 40 people gathered at the community hall that he did not choose himself to run for office but was asked by "a lot of people" who said they didn't have anyone representing them on the board.

FOR 13 YEARS

Roddick, who is the vice-president of the Gulf Islands Intermediate and Personal Care Society and a member of the board of the Lady Minto Hospital, has lived on Pender Island for the past 13 years.

He was a career army man and achieved the rank of captain in the corps of mechanical engineers. He said he feels well qualified for the job of regional director.

Roddick spoke out vehemently against the additional tax money imposed on the Gulf Islands which, he said, is spent in the Victoria and Saanich area. He said he had to go to the CRD office in Victoria and pay 50 cents for a pamphlet to find out where the tax dollars were being spent.

"What we are paying for," he added, "is for garbage collection and to maintain a dump in Saanich."

This was not right, he said.

FINGER ON PULSE

Candidate from Mayne Island, Weldon Pinchin, claims to have his finger on the "pulse" of the area.

"I am running because I am involved in all regions of island life," he said.

"I am a parent, a small businessman, a taxpayer, and I meet a cross-section of all the people who live here and visit this area," he explained.

Pinchin is an active member of the Mayne Lion's Club and is also the owner-operator of the Mayne Inn. He has operated the hotel for the last four years. He also works for the Investor's Syndicate, a New Westminster stocks and bonds company. Before that, Pinchin operated a service station in West Vancouver. He has owned property on Mayne Island for 16 years.

Pinchin said he would like to see more co-operation in the areas of fire protection and garbage disposal. "We collect garbage but what are we going to do with it on the short and long term?" he asked.

BETTER ACCOUNTING

Pinchin said that communication between the regional board and the people is not working effectively. He said he would like to see a better accounting of islanders' tax dollars, and that the problem of water supply on some of the islands must be dealt with.

Pinchin said he has also been asked by large numbers of people to run in the forthcoming election. "If I am elected it will be the desire of the local people," he added.

The third and final candidate to speak was the incumbent director, Jim Campbell, of Saturna Island, who has served on the Capital Regional Board for eight years.

Campbell spoke both as a candidate and as a defender of the regional board policies that affect the Outer Islands. He pointed out the difficulties of the director's job, where the elected representative not only has to serve the interests of his own island but all the islands and the Capital Region as well.

WORKED FOR THEM

In reference to Saturna Island, Campbell said that work has been carried out there because of the planning which has been done. "The amenities we have on Saturna," he said, "are not only due to good fortune but we have worked for what we have."

"When the community itself makes efforts to help themselves, then that is the time when the CRD should step in to help - that is my philosophy."

Campbell added that the Capital Region, namely Victoria and Saanich, should also be of interest to Gulf Islanders.

"We use and enjoy those amenities and each of us in one degree or another depends on the services offered by that region."

After a brief intermission, the meeting was turned over to the audience for questions. Each of the candidates was given the opportunity to respond to the concerns from the floor.

The question of funding for heating costs at Saturna's health centre was given a straight-forward answer by Pinchin, who said if the mechanics for funding from the CRD were available then he would do everything he could to help Saturna.

'LOTS OF LUCK'

Roddick said he wished Saturna "lots of luck" because "we haven't got a medical-dental system on Pender yet, although the money is available."

Answering Roddick's complaint, Campbell said he explained the problem to the ministry of health and was told by the minister that some money could possibly be taken from the lottery fund. Still answering Roddick, Campbell said he didn't know why the medical-dental centre for Pender Island hadn't been built yet.

A question regarding the relationship between the CRD and the Canadian Union of Public Employees, which supplies the district's manpower, was put to the candidates. Roddick and Pinchin attempted to answer in jest to what appeared to be only a half serious question.

Campbell, however, had much to say on the subject. "The CRD," he said, "has a lot to do with CUPE. WEREN'T ORGANIZED"

"When I joined eight years ago," Campbell said, "the districts were not organized in their contract negotiations with the union. I created and am still president of an organization of municipalities including Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich, which negotiate together with CUPE."

The matter of garbage collection and disposal on the Outer Islands was a point for the candidates to debate. Pender and Mayne Islands collect their own garbage and truck it over to Vancouver Island to dump in Saanich. Saturna residents have their own dump, yet are concerned about paying a garbage tax to help the other islands.

The candidates were asked if Saturna could be exempt from that garbage tax.

'WORK LIKE THE DEVIL'

Roddick said that if the majority of Saturna Islanders do not wish to be a part of any CRD garbage program then "I will work like the devil for the majority. I will give Saturna all my consideration on that matter," he added.

Pinchin said he had no idea if Saturna would have to pay for a garbage scheme it didn't want. He said, "We're going to have to deal with it sooner or later though. You're fortunate now that you have a dump but when your kids grow up and the dump is full, what then?"

The final question of the night had to do with the ferry services in the Gulf Islands and bus service to Victoria.

Regarding the proposed second berth at Village Bay, Roddick said he thought this would provide better service for the islands.

Winter Concert Series at Ganges

BY MARY C. WILLIAMSON

The third concert in the Winter Series at St. George's will establish two precedents on Sunday, Nov. 18. James Kennedy makes his first concert appearance on the island and, due to a conflicting engagement during the afternoon, he will play at 7 pm.

In addition to being a first-class concert artist, James Kennedy is also a born teacher, and those who are privileged (and far-sighted enough) to attend his workshops here on Saturday morning and afternoon will be the richer and wiser.

James lives in Victoria, where he divides his time between teaching at the Conservatory of Music and giving concerts, throughout Canada and the Western United States.

He is a graduate of the University of Victoria and also holds Licentiate and Fellowship degrees in music from Trinity College, London. His teachers include Paul Palmer, Austin Scott, Ferdinand Conrad and Hans-Martin Linde.

In 1972 James Kennedy organized the Faculty Baroque Ensemble, which explores and performs music from the 14th to the 19th centuries. He directs "La Confrerie St. Julien", a French Baroque ensemble which includes in its varied list of engagements regular bookings at the distinguished restaurant, Chauneys.

WIDE TRAVELS

As a soloist, James has played throughout Canada and the Western states, touring in concerto appearances with orchestras and also with his solo program "400 years of Unaccompanied Wind Music." His versatility is phenomenal: he has been Artist-in-Residence at the UVic Theatre Department, has conducted stage productions for Concertante Canada, and is music consultant for the Vancouver Island Ballet Society.

James is not just a specialist in early music. He is extremely interested in modern works and encourages contemporary composers. He has given many premier performances of Canadian works, some of which were written specially for him. Eugene Weigel, David Duke, Graham Coles, Sylvia Rickhardt, Jean Etheridge, Rod Sharman, P. Max, H. Edwards and Art Lewis are among the prestigious composers who have written flute and recorder works for James Kennedy.

COMMISSIONED

In 1978 he commissioned Anthony Genge to write a solo recorder piece, Eleven Steps, the title given to this work, won first place in the C.B.C. Young Composers' Competition.

For his Baroque performances, James Kennedy has an extensive collection of original and reproduction flutes and recorders, including a mid-18th century ivory flute attributed to F. Bizey.

This virtuoso of flute and recorder will be heard at St. George's on Sunday, Nov. 18 at 7 pm. You'll be glad you joined the other music-lovers and dragged yourself away from your T.V. set just this once!

Council plans Sport Swap

The Gulf Islands Secondary School's Athletic Council wants to know if anyone had unused sports equipment hanging around the house, such as skates, soccer boots, fishing tackle, skis or ski boots.

The Athletic Council, under the leadership of Larry Roy, is sponsoring a Sport Swap in the school auditorium on November 30. All proceeds will go towards uniforms, equipment and off-island travel.

The seller will benefit from a varying percentage rate. For any article sold for under $5, the seller would get 50%; from $5 to $20, 60%; from $21 to $100, 90%; and for articles $100 and up the seller takes all but $10.

This is the first time a Sport Swap has been planned and the Athletic Council hopes to make it an annual event. It is hoped that parents will support this venture by taking any sports equipment they would like to sell to the P.E. office at the high school and then by attending the Swap on the 30th of November.

There will also be a bake sale to help with this fund-raising venture.

The Athletic Council members are Karen Mouat, Kathy Mouat, Caroline McQuiggan, Caroline Andress, Bruce Hume, Fiona Rowell and Ross McFadyen.

Drinking in public place

Michael H. Mitchell of Calgary was fined $50 in provincial court last week for drinking beer in a public place. The incident occurred April 7, when a police patrol saw two youths drinking beer while standing around a fire on Stewart Road.

The court was told that both youths ran but police recognized one and picked him up later. Mitchell pleaded guilty to the charge.

Vancouver musician at Fulford Inn

Vancouver musician Gary Sneddon entertained patrons of the Fulford Inn last weekend. The singer-guitarist provided entertainment which proved to be highly popular at the pub on Friday and Saturday evening.

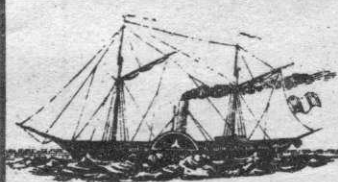

Annual band concert on December 12

Band students from all the island schools will start selling tickets this week for the annual Christmas Band Concert, to be held in the secondary school gym on Wednesday, December 12, at 7.30 pm.

Door prizes and a bake and craft sale will also be held on the evening of the concert.

Students and local shops have also been supplied with raffle tickets to help raise funds for the band's instruments, music and repairs.

'A man's home is Capital Regional Board's castle'

Sir,
I had expected there would be a public meeting of the candidates as is usually the practice but I find there is not to be one this year. How convenient for our present regional director not to have to face the people and justify his performance of the past year.

In my opinion it would have been rather difficult for him to explain why he voted to impose a gas tax on this island and more recently why he voted for Bill #637 (Building Maintenance Bylaw).

This bylaw is an unbelievable intrusion into our homes and a serious erosion of our rights and freedom. It is just another step by the regional board towards the unlimited power of a dictator!

I had always heard that a man's home was his castle but after reading bill #637 (as published in the Colonist) it looks as if it is the regional board's castle. The so-called owner can live there (maybe), pay the taxes and bills and do as he is told.

The citizens at one time had the right to vote on money bylaws. At what point and by whose decision did we lose this? I hope everyone read the article on the "Sewer" in last week's Driftwood, which was written by J. Davies. I think the writer knew exactly what he was talking about and we would do well to pay attention before it is too late!

So many people do not want to get "involved". They hide their heads in the sand and pretend they do not know what is going on. They forget the cost to our ancestors when they gave us the heritage of freedom and democracy. They also forget that we were given the vote to protect that heritage with. If you don't exercise the right to vote then one of these days we will no longer have that right nor will we have freedom and democracy.

Think it over fellow islanders. The regional board is taking away our rights and freedoms and Mr. Clement is going right along with them. Let's do something about it. Get out and vote on Saturday! Let's aim for a record in this election - the largest percentage turnout of voters of any area in B.C.

Sewer permit

She charges negligence

Sir,
An open letter to Mike Clement, regional director, Salt Spring.

I read with astonishment your rebuttal in the November 7 Driftwood, to J. Davies' article "The Big Sewer goes down The Drain."

Let me start by saying: "So you have no evidence of subterfuge", when it is less than two months ago when it can be proved a striking case of negligence by not informing the public fully that after the Ganges Harbour sewer outfall permit PESS21 was issued on September 12, 1979, that either by ignorance or design, you did not inform us of our legal rights re the recourse open to us, after the granting of permit.

So on September 12, 1979, the sewer permit was issued, and on September 19 you advised us through Driftwood of this, (a fact unknown to us before.) No other facts were included, and immediately after this news, the writer asked you on several occasions what recourse there was after the permit was issued, for objectors or appellants, and was informed by yourself that you did not know, but would find out.

In the meantime, through other sources, and only by chance, it was learned that this permit could be appealed (and fortunately, learned on time, to beat the deadline date).

At last, on September 26, the evening of the last day before the deadline of September 27, closing date for "objectors" to permit, you phoned me at home informing me of this. A lot of good this late information would have done, had the public waited for you to keep us informed.

Re this issue, you not only neglected to keep us informed, but also neglected to give accurate, adequate and sufficient information, e.g. the names of the director of the Pollution Control Branch and chairman of the Pollution Control Board, and their addresses, two separate agencies, were not supplied on time. You did not inform us on September 19, the time of notice of permit that there was only one week left for notice of appeal to be filed with the director, nor the rules and regulations of appeal procedure. It was your duty as regional director to find out from the Capital Regional District (a phone call would have been sufficient) to give us this information immediately. Why did you wait till the 26th of September, when you should have known on the 19th at the very latest?

Well over 20 "appellants" filed late, sent appeals to wrong addresses, etc., and therefore are not now recognized legally as "appellants". This is entirely and exclusively due to your lack of giving facts. Now, the only way these people who have had their appeal status denied, can make their concerns known, at the public hearing is to ally themselves with anyone of the legally recognized appellants who are scheduled to appear at public hearing at the Central Hall, commencing November 26th at 2.00.

In essence, the above is just one example of the way you've kept us in the dark, like mushrooms -- a nil performance. My vote goes to Yvette Valcourt on November 17 for good representation on regional board.

BETTY DELMONICO,
R.R. #1, Ganges, B.C.

Bylaw to eliminate reduction

A bylaw is to be prepared by the Islands Trust in order to eliminate what has become almost normal procedure in subdivisions on Salt Spring Island.

Subdividers have, in the past, been allowed a reduction in lot size of up to five percent as long as the reduction did not have an injurious effect on adjacent properties and provided it was in the public interest.

Under the new law, however, such a reduction will only be permitted "under exceptional circumstances".

Two sisters are married at double wedding in local church ceremony

CONTRIBUTED

On Saturday, October 20, in Ganges United Church with the Rev. Vern McEachern officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Shelby of Ganges gave their two daughters away in marriage in a pretty double wedding.

Marianna Louise Shelby was married to William A. Holst, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Holst of Cumberland, B.C.

Alison Marie Shelby became the bride of Bradley E. Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kerr of Chatham, Ontario.

Marianna chose as her bridesmaid Miss Shannon Dooling of Victoria, while Allison chose Miss Carol McGann of CFB Chilliwack.

The flower girl, Miss Connie Holst and the ring bearer, Michael Holst, were both from Cumberland.

Best men were Tom Shelby of Ganges and Randy Holst. Ushers were Mike Knuts of Chatham, Ontario and Glen Holst. The Holst family are all from the Vancouver Island area.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the refurbished Blackburn Golf and Country Club.

Expensive wait for ferry

Sitting in the Harbour House pub on September 18 while waiting for the ferry proved to be rather expensive for Colleen J. Moulton of Mayne Island.

Moulton was noticed sitting at a table in the public house by two RCMP constables on a routine foot patrol through the premises. The court was told that Moulton was asked by police to step outside and produce her identification.

Police said she was co-operative but her identification showed she was only 18. The evidence stated that Moulton was not partaking in any beverage at the time.

Judge D. K. McAdam remarked that she "was just a bit ahead of herself" and fined her $100.

Master of ceremonies for the occasion was Tony Raynor with organ music supplied by Charlie Hyslop.

The toast to the brides was given by a long-time family friend, Art Fraser of Coquitlam.

Following the afternoon reception a smorgasbord was held at the home of the brides' parents, on Atkins Road, Ganges for a few close friends and relatives from Vancouver Island, the mainland, interior of B.C. and Chatham, Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Holst will reside in Cumberland, B.C. following a honeymoon in Ontario and Hawaii, while Mr. and Mrs. B. Kerr travelled to Ontario, where they will reside.

Parents' group is formed at Fernwood School

A meeting was held on Wednesday, October 24 in the Fernwood School library to organize a parents' group or committee. The meeting was opened by principal Alan Marsh, who distributed a copy of a possible constitution for such a committee.

There were 22 parents present plus Marsh and Mrs. Irene Wright, the staff representative.

Marsh gave the group an outline of the possible function and structure of a parents' committee. Ten people agreed to become part of a steering committee to organize meetings that would be open to all interested parents.

The committee members are Joe and Claudia Clarke, Ron Nordine, Mary Jane Hardie, Mrs. Gautier, Mrs. Reiss, Donna McWhirter, Rebecca Bright, Marie Scotton, Maureen Davis and Vivien Pinteau.

There was general discussion on topics or speakers that people would like to see as part of meetings held monthly, with as many parents as possible attending.

The last Wednesday in November was suggested for the next meeting and Vivien Pinteau agreed to prepare an agenda.

Two lease renewals approved

Two Crown lease renewals came up for discussion at the Salt Spring Trust Committee meeting in Ganges last week.

First was for Fred Howard's log dump in Ganges Harbour and the committee decided to follow the recommendation of the advisory planning commission. The recommendation was that the lease be issued, but with a 120-day cancellation clause.

The dump will likely be phased out with the implementation of the Ganges Plan.

The committee also approved renewal of the lease for Quentin Wilson's marina in Fulford Harbour. Renewal for a 10-year period was recommended.

Intra-island division sees lots of action

BY MALCOLM LEGG

Last week saw lots of action in the intra-island division as the weather cleared and allowed the teams to get back to soccer.

SENIOR

Kanaka Tuffies, 0;
Fernwood Fury, 4.

The Tuffies were no match for the well-oiled-Fury squad. David McWhirter scored three and Mark Nordine the other as a three-goal first half was all the Fury needed for the win.

Fernwood is coached by Stuart Lyon, a Salt Spring Strikers player, and he has done an excellent job with these boys. Their positional play and passing are very good and he has allowed the team enough room for creativity to make the Fury a very attractive team to watch.

Kanaka Tuffies, 1;

A very exciting offensive match that features spectacular goal-keeping at both ends of the field. Both clubs appeared to throw their defences away and try to score goals but Kurt Sadler (Strikers) and both Jennifer and Debbie Anderson (Tuffies) had different ideas, as both made spectacular saves.

The difference in the game was in which team could take advantage of its chances. Colin Bird and Jason Minvielle were the Strikers' marksmen while Michelle Twa notched her first goal ever for the Tuffies, and that was the difference.

Bridge Club winners

Winners at the Gulf Islands Bridge Club for November 5 were, 1, Dorie and Gordon Best; 2, Mrs. Hyslop and Dorothy Crofton; 3, Lois Popkin-Clurman and Dr. Hyslop; 4, Helen Shandro and Audrey Allan. Tied in fifth place were Nora Day and Phoebe Stevens with Mary K. Thomas and N. McConnell.

Panthers, 2;
Whitecaps, 1

The Panthers have been hot in recent weeks, after a slow start, and this game saw little change as they rolled to narrow victory over the Whitecaps.

JUNIOR

Green Machine, 2;
Blazing Eagles, 0.

Bobby Akerman and his Green Machine found their winning ways once again. Bobby notched both goals as the Machine looked very strong.

The Eagles had some of their offensive power missing but their defence of Curtis Galbraith, Allison Proctor and Theo Horsdal played strongly in a losing cause.

With only a month left in the fall part of the schedule the weather is getting colder and the ground harder. To keep your kids warm they can wear their shorts and shirts over their other clothes, thereby ensuring that none of the little bodies turn blue on us.

Cost of a teacher: $25,000 per year

What does it cost to hire a teacher? When trustees of Gulf Islands School District were considering the cost of a proposal last Thursday a figure was suggested by the district superintendent.

He was low, warned secretary-treasurer Wilf Peck.

Including fringe benefits, it costs about $25,000 a year for a teacher, he noted.

ASSESSMENT ACT NOTICE TO NON-PROFIT FRATERNAL ORGANIZATIONS

Regulations under the Assessment Act provide for 1980 assessed values of meeting halls of non-profit fraternal organizations to be based on 14.5% of their actual value instead of at 25% as in the past.

To qualify the land and buildings of the non-profit fraternal organization must be used, or set aside for use, as a meeting hall by the organization for at least 150 days in each year excluding any day that the land and building is also used for:

- any purpose by a person or organization that is not a non-profit, fraternal organization,
- entertainment where there is an admission charge, or
- the sale or consumption, or both, of alcoholic beverages.

Victoria team is victim of Salt Spring Savages' new look

Contributed
Salt Spring Savages, 3;
Victoria Orcas, 1.

The Victoria Orcas were the unfortunate victims of the Savages' "new look" and eventually succumbed to them by the count of 3-1.

The new look to the Savages was brought about due to injuries and some poor play in recent weeks. The local squad changed from the 4-2-4 to a 3-3-4 system, slightly more defensive, but a change the team responded very well to.

Ron Hatch, forced into the nets due to Derek Walker's injury, came up with a sparkling performance. In the first half he was very steady and late in the second period he made several critical saves to preserve the Savages' lead.

The back foursome played a very consistent game as they rarely allowed the Orcas' attack to penetrate, even though the local squad was contained in its own half for a good portion of the match.

BIG CHANGE

The mid-field saw a big change as they added a third mid-fielder to get better control of this aspect of the game. Alan Webb and Gordie Speed dropped back from the front line to join Arne Hengstler in the mid-field.

Also, rejoining the team from the ranks of the injured was Mike Testart who joined the other three in the middle to form a solid mid-field for the Savages.

Up front saw another change as the team utilized only a three-man front line with Ron Moger, Malcolm Legg, Wayne Taylor and Julian Valcourt filling the positions very capably.

It took the foursome until the second half before they were used to playing together, but as the mid-field gained control of the game the forwards became a scoring threat. Goals by Wayne, Malcolm and Julian were all the Savages needed for the win.

CLEAN

The game itself was very cleanly played, a credit to the excellent job of officiating done by Ken Collins. As the season progresses Ken has shown why he is Salt Spring's premier referee this season as he commands full respect in his games and in so doing forces the teams to stick to soccer, which is why they are there.

The first half was scoreless as the local squad was trying to adapt to its new system of play, which allowed the Orcas to carry the play. The Savages' defence, led by Trevor Tamboline and Paul Adams in the middle, was unbeatable.

With the addition of Charlie Hoeller, Jack Speed and Keith Robinson on the flanks the defence had a super game as they allowed the Savage offence time to get organized.

In the second half the offence got itself organized. Malcolm Legg got the goals started as he intercepted a clearance and fed Wayne Taylor a break-away pass.

NO MISTAKE

Wayne made no mistake as he put the Savages one up. Shortly after, a cross by Hengstler was cleared but Wayne retrieved the ball and fed Malcolm, whose first-time shot was deflected in by Julian Valcourt.

Late in the game the Orcas got one back but the Savages came right back with one of their own. Arne slipped Malcolm a perfect break-away pass and Malcolm side-stepped the goalie, drilled the ball home and the Orcas' fate was sealed.

The new look appears to have the Savages team back on track and this weekend will be an even better test as the team enters the first round of Jackson Cup play.

Salt Spring Strikers earn draw with team from Juan de Fuca

BY STRICK AUST

Salt Spring 2; Juan de Fuca, 2
We approached last Saturday's game with some apprehension. We were missing both our starting left winger and left forward for one thing, and also we had heard some very disturbing things about the Juan de Fuca team.

They had beaten Sooke and Sooke had beaten us 2-1. They had beaten Lansdowne, and Lansdowne had beaten us 4-2. We knew that they had never lost a game.

Down the Gutter

with Ken Collins

This week saw some of the lowest scores of the current season. We had only four people making 700 or better and they were as follows: Frank Cunningham, 715; Ken Collins, 711; Charlie Byron, 722; and Leo Toutant, 709.

Three hundred games came from Frank Cunningham, 336; Ken Collins, 300; Bob Marshall, 313; and Danny Fraser, 313.

The bowlers of the week were, for the ladies, Connie Kelly, and for the men it was Charlie Byron.

I think this is a good time to run through some of the tips to improve your bowling. Firstly, an improvement in your game can be brought about by three things: patience, perseverance and practice.

Here is a summary of the most common mistakes of the average bowler: improper grip, inconsistent starting position, poor balance, lack of concentration, not making a straight line approach, not throwing the ball consistently, not bending at the foul-line, releasing the ball too soon (ensure that the ball is delivered beyond the foul-line), lack of follow-through (reach for the pins).

Think if any of the preceding points pertain to you, and if so, work on them to improve your game.

YBC NEWS

Junior bowlers, between the ages of 11 and 14, are all single-hand bowlers this season and their games so far have been quite good.

Our junior league is quite small, with only 14 bowlers registered, but they are enjoying themselves and are trying to improve their games each week.

With a small number of bowlers we are able to spend more time on bowling etiquette and correcting bad habits.

Last season we had six boys qualify for the Zone Finals in Prince George and we could quite possibly have a team of juniors qualify again this season.

Good attendance is a must for juniors, and a make-up is requested if they are unable to attend on the regular bowling day, each Saturday from 1 pm to 3 pm.

Juniors this season are Charles Rose, Mike Butler, Darryl Windsor, Teresa Wagg, Dawn Guilbault, Melissa Farrell, Elizabeth Gay, Christine Rush, Debbie Anderson, Jayna Adshear, Van Innes, Denise Harrison, Danica West and Steven Treble.

Top scorers for November 3 were: Teresa Wagg, 210; Christine Rush, 160; Denise Harrison, 151; Mike Butler, 136; and Charles Rose, 122.

Juan de Fuca opened the scoring early with a hard shot from the side of the net that bounced out of our goalie's hands and was driven home by an alert forward. This score seemed to settle the strikers down and immediately they started to control the play.

HEMMED IN

They used their wings well and generally kept the Juan de Fuca team hemmed in for the next ten minutes of play.

Our defence was now well up over centre and most balls kicked out were quickly picked up by them and fed back up to their wingers. On one such play, the ball was picked up by Stuart Lyon, who shot from a good 30 yards out, picking the bottom right-hand corner of the goal, and scored to even the tally up at one goal apiece.

The Strikers continued to press well and to generally control the play, but Juan de Fuca's defence held their ground, and continuously broke up drive after drive by the Strikers.

WINGERS PLAY WELL

In all of our games, our wingers perform well, and are always a scoring threat. But in this particular game, their ability was needed more than ever as Juan de Fuca's defenders were exceptionally strong in front of the net, and all of our drives up the middle were being turned back by them.

Normally our wingers cross the ball to their forwards, but in this game, the defenders were picking up these crosses and kicking the ball up the field.

At ten minutes of the second half, a ball was put up to our right winger by Todd Tamboline, and our winger, Peter Aust, instead of crossing the ball, side-stepped a defender and drove the ball into the top corner of the net, putting Salt Spring ahead 2-1.

The Strikers continued to pick away from the sides of the goal but Juan de Fuca's defence reacted well and closed down our wingers from that point onward.

MORE BREAK-AWAYS

Although the Strikers' team play was a delight to behold, Juan de Fuca was beginning to get more and more break-aways. On half a dozen occasions, it was the aggressive goal-keeping of David Cates that held them at bay.

Finally, however, the inevitable happened and the ball got by him to even the score at 2-2. In all of our games, the Strikers are head and shoulders above the other teams in their ability to control and move the ball, but we seem to continuously fall victim to the break-aways. This week we will try some changes in our positions to see if we can stop this kind of thing from happening.

Next week we meet the second Juan de Fuca team at Portlock Park, here on Salt Spring. Game time is 11 am. If you are interested in an hour of enjoyment, please come out and cheer the boys on; they greatly appreciate your support.

Galiano Island

BY KATHLYN BENDER
AND MARY ELLEN HARDING

A hint of frost has encouraged a flurry of fall activities on Galiano.

One Saturday recently, four Galiano bowlers, the Flemings and the Woodbridges, were invited to Mayne for lunch and a game of bowls. Each Galiano-ite received the hospitality of a different household and then enjoyed an afternoon of bowling in the new school gymnasium. Bowling continues each Tuesday afternoon at Galiano Community Hall and all ages are welcome.

A pleasing musical afternoon was held on Monday, November 5 at Page Drive in the Senior Citizen's lounge. Connie Parminter accompanied community singing on the piano while Alice Maier performed on the autoharp and Gertrude Townsend on the recorder. The next meeting of the Senior Citizens will be held on Monday, December 2, although many of them also meet for a military whist drive on the second and fourth Wednesday evening. This is held in the lounge and anyone who enjoys whist is invited to participate.

DOUBLE DELIGHT

Last Tuesday, November 6, 15 islanders gathered at the Pink Geranium to savour a double delight: first, one of Sylvia's excellent dinners and then an eloquent after-dinner speaker.

Bob Borsos of Mayne Island enlivened his talk "I'm not Arty but I know what I like" by illustrating in lightning fashion the use of water colour, acrylics and Indian ink using a brush, a crumpled Kleenex, a drinking straw and a small oblong of cardboard. He also produced an engaging four-foot-high puppet which three party-goers simultaneously manipulated.

Many Galiano-ites are looking forward to this weekend when Beth Beach and her company will stage Salute to Yesteryear, a program of songs and skits. Beth, who has had extensive training and experience on stage, radio and TV, has written the script and shares direction with Frank Greenhalgh, who has made many stage appearances. Saturday's performance is already sold out but tickets for the Friday show, November 16, may be obtained from Jean Lockwood or Jean Mozley.

BAZAAR

In the city the stores are decorated for the Christmas shopper. On Galiano the Ladies Service Club is busy preparing for their annual Pre-Christmas Bazaar on Saturday, November 24. The answer to many Christmas lists may be found on bazaar stalls for there will be plants, dried grasses, new goods, dolls and toys, baking (specializing in Christmas goodies), jewellery and white elephant.

Raffle tickets are available for two hampers, a turkey and a hand-smocked night-dress. The cost of admission includes a delicious afternoon tea and special attractions for children. The doors of the Community Hall will open at 1 pm.

NATURE NOTES

Last Tuesday morning, November 6, two B.C. ferries were steaming through Active Pass in opposite directions, the Queen of Vancouver southbound for Swartz Bay and the Queen of Victoria northbound for Tsawwassen. A CB owner on Galiano pricked up his ears when he heard the Vancouver's master announce to the Victoria's captain that he was proceeding at a slow bell to avoid a deer that was swimming from Mayne to Galiano just under the Bluffs. Some years ago the master of the Mayne Queen slowed to assist a deer crossing Navy Channel from Pender to Mayne. Any more natatory deer sightings?

The rufous humming bird with his bronze back and orange-red bib is a well-known warm-weather visitor to the Gulf Islands. On Tuesday, November 6 three islanders observed a much rarer humming bird sampling the nasturtiums in Peter Denroche's window box overlooking Whaler Bay.

He had a greenish back and an almost black throat and has been tentatively identified as a black-chinned humming bird. This infrequent resident of southeast B.C. should now be in Mexico. What is he doing at this time of the year on Galiano?

An interesting little fish caught in a crab trap by Phil Geshke not long ago has been taken to the Aquarium in Vancouver for identification. It is about three inches long, with orange spots and iridescent fins.

GOLF CLUB

The annual meeting of the ladies' section of the Galiano Golf and Country Club was held at the clubhouse with 40 ladies attending on October 30.

Captain for the coming year will be Elspeth King; vice-captain, Jean Wint; match and rules chair-lady, Linda Laughlin; secretary, Jean Goodrich; treasurer, Esther Lantinga; handicap chair-lady, Obi Whillans; social convener, Alice Morissette; and the immediate past-president is Elizabeth Steward.

The ladies' section looks forward to a most active season.

Sorry to hear that Mrs. W. J. Maier is at home suffering with several broken ribs, after a fall at her home last week.

Mrs. Jessie Bellhouse has had two of her daughters visiting recently: Mrs. Mabs Dornik from Victoria and Mrs. Peggy Keeping of Deadmans Creek, near Kamloops. Some grandchildren also came along to stay for a few extra days.

Corporal James Good, R.C.M.P., with his wife Susan and two children, Sara and Ben, all of Bella Coola, spent holidays visiting Mrs. Good's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cam Prior.

Rick Harding spent the weekend in Coquitlam visiting his brother, Bryan Harding, who has recently undergone surgery at Royal Columbian Hospital. We are pleased to tell all of his Galiano friends that he is doing quite well.

Mr. and Mrs. John Liver are now on the mend, after suffering with a long bout of the flu. It is nice to see them looking better.

Galiano's new doctor, Hugh Maclure, with his wife Muriel last week attended the annual convention of the Association of North American Doctors and Dentists at Bellingham. The purpose of the group is to link Christian precepts with the practice of medicine and dentistry and also to discuss means of helping with current world problems, particularly those of the Third World.

Wildlife areas

Much of southern Canada's waterfowl habitat is disappearing, making way for housing developments, industry and highways. Several years ago, Environment Canada began to acquire prime nesting and migratory stop-over land in threatened areas. To date, more than 30 national wildlife areas have been created as a result and more are being set aside.

Meals on Wheels

Is anyone else in need of help?

Meals-on-Wheels is a local community program designed to provide home delivered meals on a regular and scheduled basis to anyone having a need for such service.

On Salt Spring Island that means home delivery, around noon, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. As many meals may be ordered for each delivery as are necessary. The $1.75 per meal charge almost, but not quite, covers the cost of the meal.

The service is designed to assist anyone who, on either a temporary or permanent basis, is unable to prepare meals at home. Recipients of the service do not need to be referred by their family doctors. A telephone call to the co-ordinator, Mrs. Kay Smith at 537-9822, will start the process.

Prior to the opening of the Greenwoods intermediate care facility, Meals-on-Wheels served some 30 recipients.

That number has now decreased by two-thirds, and those who run the program and deliver the meals believe there are more people who want and need the service.

If they are right and any reader is one, he is invited to contact Mrs. Smith.

Fined for causing disturbance

Causing a disturbance in Mouat Park and being a minor in possession of liquor cost Bradley O. Farrup of Victoria $125 in provincial court last week.

The court was told that on July 25, two youths were observed drinking beer in the picnic area of the park by an off-duty ranger.

Police, who were called to the scene, said the accused used obscenities and verbally abused the ranger in front of the picnicking families.

School board candidates field questions at meeting

Saturna Islanders had the opportunity Monday night to hear views from their three school trustee candidates, one of whom will be elected Saturday.

Incumbent trustee Tom Davidson, whose term in office will be up December 31, Carol Fisker and Jon Guy spoke at an all-candidates meeting sponsored by the Saturna Island Community Club.

Each of the candidates was given seven minutes in which they could state their concerns before questions were allowed from the audience. The meeting was chaired by Lorraine Campbell, president of the Community Club.

Carol Fisker, who moved from Steveston to Saturna Island two years ago, told the crowded community hall that her career was raising five children.

TRANSPORTATION

Her main concern, she said, is that the school board is not doing enough to provide transportation for Outer Islands students. She said that if her children have to live on Salt Spring Island or Mayne Island in order to attend school then they will not attend.

She said that when she chose to move to Saturna she decided to accept the disadvantages, but a poor education for islands children was worse than a disadvantage.

"For the children, boarding away from home to attend school is a crime," she said. "With the help of parents, teachers and the trustees, the problems could be solved."

"I have one child who has just completed grade 12," she said. "And it was extremely difficult for him to do his work while living with strangers."

Candidate Jon Guy, who said he considers himself a newcomer to Saturna, moved to the island from Edmonton 15 months ago. He graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Alberta and has worked as a geologist and tradesman machinist. Presently, he said, he is a farmer on Saturna with a wife and one child.

Guy said that as a school trustee he would offer fresh ideas. He said he had no vested interest in running and his view on education for Saturna students were still growing along with his love for the island.

He said he was a good listener and would try to solve islanders' problems and implement their views. He added that "we must accept the geographical difficulties and disadvantages that come with living on an island".

He said that the school system should be flexible enough to care for the needs of the children, particularly the grade eights and nines who face the problem of transportation.

"Although there is no universal solution to the problem we can't continue boating students over to Mayne Island."

Tom Davidson, the incumbent trustee, told his fellow islanders that he was happy he wasn't going to win back his seat by acclamation.

His reason for running again, he said, was because the present school board was becoming "filled with novices". He said the Galiano trustee had only one year of experience and the Mayne trustee had two years if she was appointed to the board. It would leave the Outer Islands a "little shy for experience". Saturna must have an experienced watchdog, he added.

There are now two new novice trustees from Salt Spring, he said, and the Outer Islands need the voice of experience. "That is why I am running for re-election".

Davidson said he was afraid that projects such as added classroom and storage space and improved office facilities that he initiated would fall by the wayside if he were not re-elected. "I think if I was not there we wouldn't have got the project at all".

OTHER OBJECTIVES

Davidson said that other objectives in his sights are the implementation of zero-base budgeting and the transportation of Saturna students to a middle school on Mayne Island.

Shortly after the three candidates outlined their beliefs, chairman Campbell invited questions from the audience.

"$400,000 of our tax money doesn't go into our school system. Will you as a trustee try to get our taxes lowered?"

Guy: "There are basic rules in the ministry governing what the school board's powers are. We must do as much as we can to stop shipping money out of the district when we need funding for transportation".

Fisker: "I don't think they're going to lower our taxes but we should use more push to get better transportation for the students."

Davidson: "It is my opinion that we are going to see some of that money used for transportation in the Outer Islands."

"What are your thoughts on using money to board students in other school districts?"

Fisker: "I believe that that is a good idea. Many parents would rather board their children with relatives elsewhere than with strangers on Salt Spring Island. Students should maintain their family ties by living with relatives."

Guy: "Each student should have the option of being boarded anywhere in the province if the programs or school facilities are better elsewhere."

Davidson: "I am not opposed to changing board policy on that matter."

"What happens if my child wants to take a course that isn't offered on Salt Spring Island?"

Davidson: "In such a case as a student wishing to take Spanish, which is not offered on Salt Spring, the school board would assist him or her with room and board. This assistance, however, would be limited to academic courses only."

"How many students are in that position?"

Davidson: "At the moment I am not aware of any student in that position."

"How do our aims differ and conflict with Salt Spring Island's desires?"

Davidson: "What I've met in the past is the inability of the school administration to recognize Outer Islands students in school programs. As an example, a French program excluded Outer Islands students by planning an activity and forgetting some students had to leave early. In another case some Outer Islands students had marks removed from their grades because they didn't attend a weekend activity."

Breathalyzer readings show editor impaired

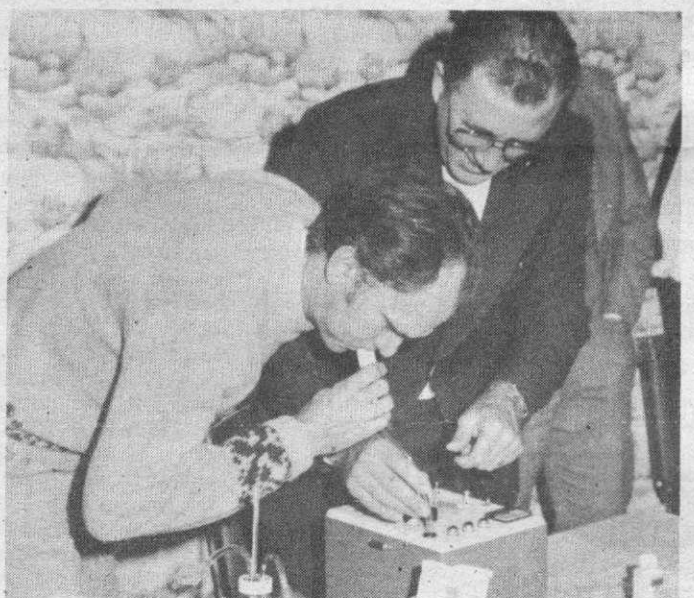

Driftwood editor Tony Richards supplied samples of his breath for analysis on two occasions last week. On Tuesday evening breathalyzer readings showed that he had a blood-alcohol level of slightly under 0.08. On the following Monday both breathalyzer and sobriety tests showed that he was impaired beyond all reasonable doubt.

However, no charges have been laid. Luckily for him, he hadn't been driving. Here is his story.

Driftwood editor Tony Richards provides sample

Rotarian Don Perkins takes a deep breath and blows.

Not too many people have seen a police officer take a breath test. Here, Sgt. Mitch Hanks shows how it's done.

There are more than just a few people on the islands who have had the opportunity see the Borkenstein breathalyzer in action. And for most of those people, it was probably not an experience they would wish to repeat.

On Tuesday evening last week, I was a guest of the Salt Spring Island Rotary Club. So was RCMP Sergeant Mitch Hanks, who brought with him the Ganges RCMP detachment's Borkenstein breathalyzer.

At shortly after 6 pm, Rotarian Don Perkins and myself began drinking. In a period of about an hour and three-quarters, he had five drinks, rye and ginger ale, and I had five bottles of Canadian beer.

Also during that time, we had a pretty fair-sized meal.

Now according to charts which have been published to enable one to estimate the level of alcohol in his blood, I should have blown 0.11.

ROUGH ESTIMATE

However, the readings which were obtained showed that those guides only allow for very rough estimates with some people.

I drank my five bottles of beer between 6.11 and 7.45 pm and took the test at 8.22. Taking into consideration oxydation, whereby the alcohol level in the blood drops by 0.015 every hour, I should have blown about 0.11. The reading was 0.08 and 15 minutes later it was down to 0.075.

Obviously, then, all the alcohol I had consumed had been absorbed into my bloodstream and the level was dropping.

How did I feel? Certainly not impaired, though the law says that you are not permitted to operate a motor vehicle with a reading of more than 0.08.

But the breathalyzer measures the alcohol level in your blood and this measurement should not be confused with tolerance, which is something altogether different.

PHYSICAL MAKE-UP

The fact that the reading was 0.015 lower than it should have been can only be attributed to physical make-up. For instance, a fat 160-lb. person will have a higher blood-alcohol reading than a lean person of the same weight and sex, after drinking an equal amount of alcohol.

Someone with a lot of muscle tissue has a higher volume of blood, enabling him to absorb larger amounts of alcohol. On the other hand, fatty tissue is supplied by smaller amounts of blood.

The low reading cannot be attributed to a malfunction in the Borkenstein breathalyzer.

MORE APPEALS

As Sgt. Hanks pointed out, there have been more court appeals on the breathalyzer machine than on any other technical aid. Its reliability and accuracy have not been disproven.

And on Tuesday night, as after every test, the breathalyzer was tested as well.

According to the results of Don Perkins' test, his physical make-up is closer to the average.

He had consumed enough alcohol to give a reading of 0.10. Oxydation over 2½ hours would be close to 0.045, giving a reading of 0.055 or 0.06, and he blew 0.05.

A week later, I tried the experiment again. This time, however, I wanted to really go at the beer, take the test and see how I felt.

At 4.05 I began drinking beer. Three hours later I finished my ninth beer. And I sure was glad to finish it.

INTOXICATED

I was very hungry, and very definitely intoxicated.

I drunkenly guessed at the time that I would blow around 0.16 and my guess was a pretty good one.

I couldn't walk very steadily and I was having some difficulty focusing on anything.

Ten minutes later I staggered into the RCMP office (after someone else drove me up there) and was greeted by Sgt. Mitch Hanks and Const. Don Geistlinger.

The breathalyzer was prepared and I blew: 0.15 at 7.36 pm.

While the machine as being readied for another test, Don Geistlinger had me do some sobriety tests.

FELL OVER

On the heel-to-toe test, where you try to walk in a straight line, heel-to-toe, I took three steps and fell over. On the second attempt, I took two steps and fell over.

On two other tests, a leg raise and finger-to-nose, I fared a little better. With the first, you raise one leg without losing your balance. On the finger-to-nose test, you extend your arms away from your sides, shut your eyes and then try to touch the tip of your nose with the end of your forefinger.

The judgment on those tests was "not bad".

Const. Geistlinger also made some observations as to my appearance: odour, moderate smell of alcohol; face, flushed; eyes, normal; pupils, dilated; walk, swaying; and turning, again swaying. With regard to speech, I had a "fair choice of words".

UNCO-ORDINATED

I also appeared to be slightly unco-ordinated.

Looking back on the event, I would say I must have been trying pretty hard to look sober, because I would consider myself to have been rather more than "slightly unco-ordinated."

On the way to the RCMP office, I distinctly remember feeling quite woozy, and I'm sure if I'd shut my eyes, the unpleasant, spinning sensation would have been hard to ignore.

On the second test, I blew 0.16 at 7.52: still absorbing alcohol. At 8.12 I was down to 0.145: slowly on my way to sobriety.

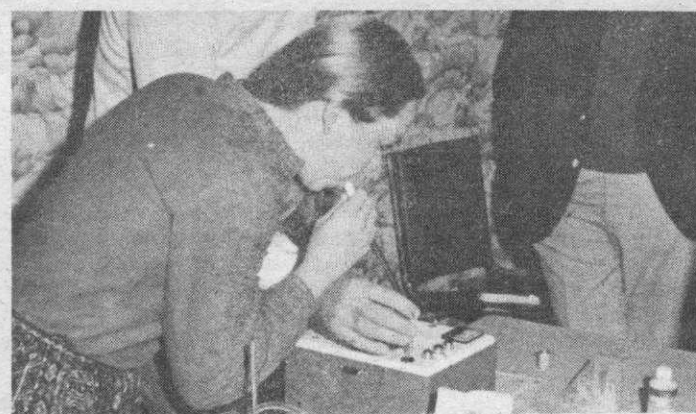

Mitch Hanks estimated that, through oxydation, by 6 o'clock the following morning I would have no alcohol left in my body.

The experience of taking a breathalyzer test is not one I would like to repeat under any other circumstances. I've seen enough people try to argue the tests in court, and lose.

Readers are advised that the results of the tests I took should not be used as a guide for themselves. Everyone is different when it comes to physical make-up.

I know now that I could probably drink four bottles of beer in a two-hour period and avoid an impaired charge if I were to drive afterward.

But I think I'll try to stay on the safe side, and walk instead.

The editor's wife, Alice Richards, had to drive home so she took a test to make sure she could do so legally.

Rotary Club members look on as the tests are carried out.

Down Through The Years With Driftwood

FIVE YEARS AGO

There are 30 candidates lined up for Saturday's elections in the islands. Of this number, 24 are running for the Islands Trust and six are contesting seats on the Gulf Islands School Board. Following is the list of Islands Trust candidates: South Pender, Allan C. Brooks, George Leonard Henshaw, David Allan Schofield; North Pender, Walter Frank Cunliffe, Robert W. Fearn, Wymond Bruce Irving, Gordon George Wallace; Mayne, Christian Bergthorsen, Elsie M. Goodman, Victor W. Griffiths, Daniel James Imrie, Kathleen Foye Miles, Dennis A. Wood; Galiano, Stephen S. Riddell, Ann Elizabeth Steward, Ronald Thompson; Saturna, Barry D. Crooks, James Edward Money, William Mack Sheffield; Salt Spring, Victor Howard Clement, Michael A. Larmour, Charles J. Longueay, W. John Stepaniuk, James R. Wilkinson. School board candidates are, Salt Spring, Ann Foerster, Sheila Fraser, Beth Hill, Donna Watt; Pender, Donald Fairweather, Robert Russell.

TEN YEARS AGO

Provincial Government has placed a ban on school referenda in the province. The failure to gain approval for new construction in the Gulf Islands may bring about a shift system in district schools by the fall, warned school board chairman George Heinekey this week. Government has imposed a ban in an effort to combat inflation.

On December 15 the lights will go on on the Care Tree at Pender. It is the annual work of George and Edith Pearson, who light up a lamp on the tree in token of each donation received for CARE.

Developers on the islands who have been prohibited from dividing land into lots of less than half an acre have asked for relief from the ban from the provincial government.

Galiano Lodge has been sold. Mr. and Mrs. Barry Smith have purchased the resort from Mr. and Mrs. James Deas.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Four Anglican congregations on Salt Spring Island gathered on Sunday in St. George's Hall to bid farewell to the Rev. S. J. Leach and Mrs. Leach, who left this week to assume charge of a parish in Port Alberni. Mrs. Elsie Worthington, president of the WA, expressed the appreciation of parishioners.

Dutch Elm disease is spread from infected trees to healthy trees by the elm beetle, causing wilting of leaves and death to the tree within a few years. A cure for Dutch Elm disease is still being sought by Environment Canada scientists.

Pottery is for using and not just for showing urges island potter

Pottery is something that should be used, not simply admired.

The man who says so is the man who makes the pottery. Bas Cobanli is the happy potter. Not as happy, perhaps, as Omar Khayam's potter who was woven into the wine of the tale, but happy with his island home, his pottery and his changed style of living.

Cobanli is in considerable degree typical of the island craftsmen whose work will be on display in Mahon Hall this weekend.

He enjoys his chosen vocation. He enjoys the sense of accomplishment in having produced an article which gains someone else's warm approval.

Candidates

"To fight for bus service and increased foot-passenger service," he added, "is not necessary."

Campbell said he believed that with the function given to the Capital Regional Board by the transit authority and the provincial cabinet, a bus service could be put into the Swartz Bay terminal for those who don't want to use their cars.

He added that it was an important ferry responsibility to make an option for people to take a bus to Victoria. "This," he said, "would make a meaningful contribution and I am committed to working for that."

Weldon Pinchin said: "As a businessman I rely on vehicle traffic. As an islander, where is the fine line of balance? I am concerned, but I don't know how it will affect each island separately. It's a pretty touchy question; I'm concerned, but unfortunately I don't have an answer."

SINCERE DESIRE
In a brief summary of their campaigns and beliefs the three contenders for the same position on the regional board showed a sincere desire to serve the Outer Gulf Islands.

Jim Campbell said he hadn't intended to run because of the work he needed to do on his farm, but being asked by a great number of persons to run caused him to change his mind. He added that he would be happy to serve Saturna again and has taken a great pride doing so in the past.

Weldon Pinchin told the audience that although he couldn't walk on water, he was an islander and would do his best to make the system more efficient and improve communications between the board and the island people.

Vern Roddick said that he had been asked by many people to get more Galiano and Pender representation on the regional board and believed his considerable experiences around the island left him well qualified for the position.

The potters and the weavers of Salt Spring Island, and there are many, all share this joy in pleasing others. The sense of achievement is there every time they make and sell an article.

See Bas Cobanli, they said, when the show was being discussed. So we did.

He's not the easiest man to get something from, because he doesn't want to advertise himself. He did admit to one or two things.

ENGINEER
He came here from England, where he had been trained a civil engineer. In Vancouver he pursued his engineering until a few years ago, when he decided to live on Salt Spring Island and pursue his hobby of pottery. He has been a potter for nearly 10 years.

He does a little consulting work in his own original profession and he does a lot of pottery. His particular enthusiasm is for stoneware. There are three grades of pottery, he explained. Earthenware is the lowest heated during the cooking process. Stoneware is subjected to a higher temperature and china, or porcelain, is the highest.

A Cobanli casserole is intended to cook meals in the oven and not to be used as an ornament.

What's a pot worth?

It has to be reasonably competitive with other materials. Cost of a stone crock cannot be too far different from the price of an aluminum vessel of similar purpose. But a vessel which costs $10 to make cannot be sold for $5 unless the potter is also a philanthropist. The profit margin is small, admits the potter, but the opportunity of earning part of his living from the pursuit of a hobby is something that few accomplish.

At the weekend Salt Spring Island will be able to see the result of the work of many island craftworkers. It's the ninth annual showing.

Cobanli wouldn't debate the dividing line between art and craft. Pottery is a craft, he feels. But where does that line come down?

He's been here a few years with his wife, Jill, and their family. They live on Scott Point Road and he is still delighted to be known as Bas Cobanli, the potter, rather than Cobanli the engineer.

That's what makes him typical. So many of the other potters and weavers feel just the same way.

PROGRESS REPORT

During the past year as your representative on the Capital Region District Board, I have:

- attended all Board and Committee meetings when matters affecting Salt Spring have been discussed.
- attended numerous meetings and functions on island.
- as a consequence have been able to help islanders from time-to-time.
- during this time have gained insight and experience in dealing with disappointment when problems prove to be outside regional jurisdiction.

In the future, I propose:

- continuing investigation into means of controlling noise, a nuisance besetting many residents.
- support the county system of government where it provides broader service at lower cost.
- will work hard restoring the agricultural and farming activities of the island by pressing for technical help.
- will work hard improving transportation and communications.

In seeking re-election, I would like to thank all those who supported me and encouraged me to ask you to:

Legion leads parade to church service

Year of the Child

Year of the Child brought one child to the Cenotaph on Sunday to take a silent part in the ceremonies. Bryan Davies kept clear of the events until it came time to lay wreaths in memory of the fallen. He climbed silently to the top step of the cairn and stood watching. Bryan had an official role to play. He was keeping tabs on Daddy: Wilf Davies, who directed the school band. In addition to the school band, other students present were Cubs who lowered and raised the flags.

Royal Canadian Legion at Ganges took charge of the parade on Sunday to march to the Cenotaph and join in a memorial service for Remembrance Day.

Service was conducted by Rev. Vern McEachern and Rev. P.A. Bergin.

The marching party arrived at the park shortly before 11 am. At that time the two minutes' silence was observed in memory of those who gave their lives in the wars of the century.

The silence period was contained within the church service.

Gulf Islands Secondary School band took part in the ceremony and two youngsters lowered the flags in honour of the dead.

Leading the parade was Paul Layard. RCMP furnished the Cenotaph guard.

The public took part in laying wreaths on the Cenotaph at the conclusion of the service.

A reception was held in the Legion Hall after the ceremonies.

The Remembrance Day ceremonies were repeated in many island communities.

Referendum defeated

Meeting in Ganges to consider low-level radiation hazards heard Jezrah Hearne on Thursday evening announce that 71% of the people of the Skagit Valley in the State of Washington had rejected the Sedro-Woolley nuclear plant project in a referendum.

The referendum is not binding and the action of the United States now will be a test of American democracy, she told the meeting.

She also told the audience that Redbook magazine, a very conservative publication, had recognized the hazards of radiation in a story in the current issue on protection of a child from cancer.

Meeting heard Dr. Eric Young speak on the hazards of radiation.
