

Photographers' views transformed into fine art

When out gallery hopping do you bemoan the fact that you can't afford the work?

ART BEAT ON THE ROCK

WITH ANDREA RABINOVITCH

Enter PhotoSecession IV at ArtSpring, which opened Monday.

Twenty-one photographers in 21 days showcase absolutely gorgeous work with plenty of variety. Each deserves credit for using photography to realize their inner vision — turning what they see into fine art.

Eric Klemm is a master photographer with major awards and a long list of international kudos to his credit. His three photographs actually produced chills on a hot August day.

Osman Phillips' and Michael S. Levy's work uses natural objects, like wood, and presents them as living breathing creatures with human characteristics.

Birgit Freybe Bateman also takes found objects and turns them into images to rival any painting. Kim Kornbacher's landscapes transform west coast scenes into glorious sculpture that resonates sensually. Voluptuous flowers inspire Ann Holt and Janet Dwyer with colour and form. Ron Watt and Steven Friedman use a variety of landscapes to compose large, sweeping pieces.

The colours and shapes of other cultures inspire Treena Norish's and Alane Lalonde's work, sending the viewer on a holiday. Photo Secession is a uniformly excellent show. Use it to train your eye to look at art or troupe down to actually put something on your wall to enjoy for years to come.

Points of View

Artist and mother. The two labels are not mutually exclusive, but artist parents struggle to create while dealing with the never-ending demands of child rearing.

Points of View at the Barn on South Ridge Road, running for the month of August, features the work of Karen Day, Stefanie Denz, Diana Dean, Kathy Venter and Dennis O'Connor, curated by Margaret Day.

Karen Day's series of 10 pen-on-paper line drawings are taken from her perspective while breastfeeding her baby in her home. We can feel the pull of multi-tasking and realize that it is possible, if a tad cumbersome.

Clay sculptor Venter uses two life-sized nudes to juxtapose the fecundity of a pregnant woman with that of an androgynous woman/child. The pregnant woman lies down with her arms akimbo, leaving her in a vulnerable state while the Ascetic, the name of the piece, is upright on her knees waiting to fly.

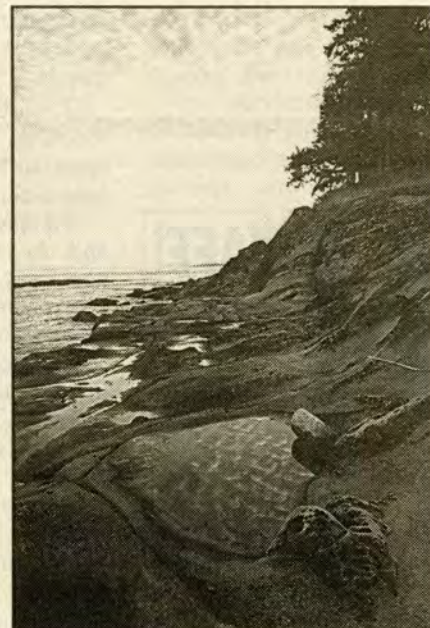

Denz' Cagey Business is painted on a weathered wood gate. A pregnant woman with yellow-tinged skin gazes warily out while a circular and pointed stick barrier is placed around her, suggesting a metaphor of being caged. The unsentimental theme delves into the very real feelings many mothers have.

Dean's two oil paintings are psychological in nature with one a more modern-day familial scene while the other is a rather chilling depiction of a dead woman in early pregnancy with the look of a 16th-century Flemish painting.

Though O'Connor's similarly themed sketches are included with the four women's, it is his pen-on-paper life sketches in the upstairs gallery that point to his oeuvre. A series collected over many years, they are lovely pieces that often capture the personalities of the models.

Yoga retreat brings classes, speakers, activities

Salt Spring Centre invites islanders and visitors to take part in its 30th annual retreat titled Yoga and More from August 5 to 10.

Morning and afternoon yoga classes will be available, as well as instruction in pranayama breathing practices. Classes range from devotional Bhakti yoga practices to yoga dance, stick dancing and singing.

Each day, a class will be offered to study the Bhagavad Gita, an ancient Indian epic set on a battlefield to symbolize inner battles.

Question and answer periods will be led by master yogi Baba Hari Dass, the inspiration behind Salt Spring Centre. He will be present for Sunday Satsung gatherings on August 8 and 15 from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

Evening programs vary, with a Saturday slide presentation on Sri Ram Ashram, an orphanage in India connected to the centre.

A Sunday Night Extravaganza will feature an open mike event. Children can be registered in camps, with a kids program for three to seven year olds and a youth program for older kids. Camp activities include a beach day, a wilderness survival day, juggling and instruction in a martial arts form called staffs.

Debbie Brown, a choreographer for Cirque de Soleil, will lead classes for both kids and adults.

For more information, contact Salt Spring Centre at 537-2326 or visit the website at www.saltspringcentre.com.

STREET DANCE 2004

SATURDAY AUGUST 21ST

Musician-storyteller brings tales of travel

Islanders are in for a special treat when Rory McLeod returns to Salt Spring on Wednesday, August 11 for a concert at All-Saints-By-the-Sea.

McLeod is a one-man soul band, poet and storyteller, singing his own unique upbeat dance stories.

A travelling troubadour using tap shoes, harmonica, guitar, trombone, spoons, finger cymbals, bandorea, djembe and various percussion instruments, concert organizers say he is a huge audience-pleaser.

He is also a modern wandering minstrel who enthalls audiences with stories of his travels.

"I've travelled to look for work, to mend a broken heart, to be with someone I longed for," says McLeod.

"I'd travel to visit friends and on the way I'd make new ones, I'd roam because I was curious to see what was around the next corner. Sometimes I travelled to follow the warmer weather and migrate... like the birds and the big whales and fishes do."

Tickets for the concert, which is presented by the Salt Spring Festival of the Arts, are $15 and available at Acoustic Planet.

The show starts at 8 p.m.

Call Trish Nobile at 537-4167 for more information or visit www.saltspringfestival.ca.

ART RIGHT NOW: Helena Cuddy joins Salt Spring artist Bill Rhodes' cows on the stage at Beaver Point Hall, where Art Now V took place last week. The hall was filled with the creative works of well-known and newer south-end artists working with paint, wood, clay, metal, glass, felt, leather, fabric and paper. Art Now exhibits have become a regular part of the annual arts calendar on Salt Spring.

Grey and Kodaly at M&M

Mezzo-soprano Janette Grey teams up with pianist Chris Kodaly for an eclectic program of songs at the August 11 Music and Munch event.

Classical Italian works, Bach, early English songs and haunting spirituals are make up the free recital's repertoire.

According to Music Makers, the group in charge of Music and Munch, "Grey's warm voice is beautifully supported by Kodaly, who is well known in the community for his accomplished playing both as soloist and accompanist to choirs and solo artists."

Grey studied voice in Scotland before moving to Canada, performing roles in operettas. Since moving to B.C. she has sung with the Victoria Choral Society, the Amity Singers, the Linden Singers, and on Salt Spring with Tuned Air, Salt Spring Singers and Women of note.

Grey and Kodaly have performed together several times at the lunchtime series.

Music begins at 12:10 p.m. in All Saints church, followed by a delicious optional lunch for $5.50.

Artists urged to join paint-in Planning for the first Salt Spring Island Paint-in is well underway, and more artists are welcome to sign up for the September 4 event.

From 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., the Painters Guild and the Alliance of Salt Spring Artists are hosting a day of painting for artists and the public.

All Salt Spring Island painters are invited to participate, and invitations have been extended to numerous Vancouver Island painting clubs and the Federation of Canadian Artists.

Organizers also hope artists will bring with them some completed works for show and sale.

Pre-registration is requested, and can be done by contacting Libby Jutras at 537-1952 or libby@saltspring.com.

Registrations will also be accepted at the reception at ArtSpring on the Friday evening of September 3, and the next morning, also at ArtSpring.

The art of choosing a video (part one) — the video box

Picking a video based solely on looking at its box can be risky.

The box is purely an advertisement and, like all advertisements, it loves to lie.

A great example: most boxes have quotes from reviewers lauding the film. To mimic this, some have a bold-typed quip like "a funny action comedy!" with quotes around it, of course.

The only problem is that no actual critic said this. It was only some guy who wrote up the box. Do quotation marks not mean anything anymore?

Relying on the advice of actual reviewers is marginally safer. We may not agree with Roger Ebert, but if his "thumbs up" is on the box, it's a safe bet that the majority of reviewers think the same way.

Beware of videos on which the only quote comes from someone whose name is followed by a string of letters, i.e. Jim Grumpy, KXYL Radio, Goosebump, Tennessee. That usually means he's the only guy in the entire USA who liked the film.

Also beware of "official selection: Sundance Film Festival." Being a selection doesn't mean squat — film festivals have a zillion entries.

Now, if it actually was the winner of Sundance, that's saying something.

Of course, it goes without saying that winning the Albuquerque, Tikrit or Duncan film festivals is not necessarily a recommendation.

Keep in mind that the box is trying to get you excited. To this end the only form of punctuation found on the back of a video box is the exclamation mark! Because it is trying to say something really important!

But grammar and sentence structure are unimportant! All that matters is getting you excited!

And while the text has you exhausted, you fall prey to the more subtle elements of the box art.

Usually, it will have one of the following two images: a tightly-dressed woman's body or a gun. The presence of both may lead some males between the ages of 13-35 into an epileptic fit.

If you can't see either image, look out! It may be one of those foreign things.

So, you can't really judge a film by its box.

Next week: those shifty video store employees.

Barkerville blazes with Newman energy

Former Salt Spring resident Amy Newman is running a new theatre endeavour with Richard Wright in Barkerville.

The Newman & Wright company has established the Theatre Royal in Barkerville and now presents 20 shows per week.

It has just added Whiskey Dealers and Miner's Angels, Newman's much-acclaimed show on Cariboo women.

"This show is quite different than anything presented before," said Wright in a press release. "It is more dramatic, more intense and filled with historically accurate portrayals of some of Barkerville's women. We have had an incredible response to it, both in numbers of audience and the audience's appreciation. It has brought laughter and tears. It is a real tour de force for Newman."

Wright said the group is engaged in "cutting-edge retro theatre; accurate to a time-period, yet utilizing some modern devices such as stage lights."

Theatre Royal is also bringing in well-known musicians such as folksinger Gary Fjellgaard and blues-roots musician David Essig, who is also chair of the Islands Trust and the Salt Spring Local Trust Committee.

Newman is sister to Sue Newman and daughter of Virginia and the late Ray Newman, long-time members of Salt Spring's performing arts community.

Holistic lawyering could make lawyer jokes defunct

What's black and brown and looks good on a lawyer?

A Doberman.

There are a million lawyer jokes of varying degrees of viciousness and contempt.

What's the difference between a rooster and a lawyer?

A rooster clucks defiance . . .

Why such spleen and venom for a profession most of our mothers wish we'd chosen? I can give you a partial answer in two words: Johnnie and Cochrane.

Why does California have the most lawyers and New Jersey the most toxic waste dumps?

New Jersey got first choice.

Johnnie Cochrane is the smooth-talking California mouthpiece who got O.J. Simpson off on a murder rap a decade ago.

You can bleat about due process, incompetent prosecutors and gullible juries, but it was the smoke and mirrors defence — oh, let's not pussyfoot — it was the lies and distortions invented and disseminated by Johnnie Cochrane and his slimy crew that enabled a guilty-as-hell, two-time slash-throat murderer to spend the rest of his life playing golf while his victims rot in the ground.

I know it; you know it; Johnnie Cochrane knows it.

Why is it that man-eating sharks never attack lawyers?

Professional courtesy.

For those of us not versed in the niceties of jurisprudence, the question is not about the finer points of law.

The question is: how can Johnnie Cochrane look at that face in his

had no interest in or taste for the vicious, dog-eat-dog adversarial style of lawyering that left everyone involved feeling like victims of a drive-by gangbang.

Why can't — he asked himself ingenuously — the resolution of standard legal issues be based on mutual respect, dignity, compassion, reconciliation and forgiveness?

"I see the legal process as an opportunity for healing and growth," he said, "rather than an adversarial game about winning at all costs and the destruction of others."

Van Zyverden went on to form an organization called IAHL — the International Alliance of Holistic Lawyers. It's aim?

To turn the legal experience as we all know it completely on its head. Holistic law seeks peaceful, non-antagonistic solutions to legal conundrums.

Don't go to a holistic lawyer if you're looking for a big payoff or hoping to put the screws to your ex.

Holistic lawyering is about fairness, kindness and coming out a better person than you went in.

The IAHL won't take over our legal system anytime soon — it has just 700 members worldwide. Newfoundland alone has more lawyers than that. Canada has nearly 100 times as many — 67,139 at last count.

Still, it's a start. Holistic Law. Run it over your lips a couple of times. Feels good.

Of course, there's a down side.

If Holistic Law takes over, what'll we do for lawyer jokes?

bathroom mirror each morning?

The cynical answer? Easily. He's a lawyer.

Did you hear about the terrorist who hijacked a 747 full of lawyers? He threatened to release one every hour until his demands were met.

Most of us will never have to share a courtroom with Johnnie Cochrane, thanks be, but chances are we'll have an unpleasant experience involving a lawyer sooner or later. It comes with the territory they haunt.

Lawyers are the well-dressed ghouls who traditionally inhabit the shadows that hang over divorces, bankruptcies, batteries, slanders, libels, foreclosures, disclosures — you name it.

If human agony is in the mix, a lawyer or six won't be far behind, sniffing the spoor and running a tab.

Satan to a lawyer: I will make you King of the world, but it will cost you your soul, your wife, your children, your in-laws and your friends.

Lawyer to Satan: So what's the catch?

No question about it — lawyers are the e.coli in the human Petri dish. Pond scum incarnate. Lower than a garter snake's belt buckle.

Or maybe not. Allow me to introduce the concept of Holistic Lawyering. It's the brainchild of a skinny, bright-eyed Vermont lawyer by the name of Bill van Zyverden.

Even in law school, van Zyverden realized he'd make a lousy conventional lawyer. He

Subjects' vitality captured in Rosamonde Dupuy exhibit

The recent works of Rosamonde Dupuy fill the Islands Savings Credit Union with her exuberant colour-saturated oils, depicting rural and urban landscapes, still lifes, florals and figurative images.

Dupuy, born in England, and a Salt Spring resident since 1973 — with time out to travel in France with her husband, who left Bordeaux for Canada in 1964 — describes herself as a mainly self-taught artist, who is now fortunate to be able to dedicate herself to her passion full time.

"My paintings have no hidden meaning, no message, except the medium itself," said Dupuy of her work. "The rich, luscious quality of the oil paint, and the way it is applied to the two-dimensional picture plane within a dynamic composition, are the aspects of painting which are of primary importance to me.

"My aims are to capture the freshness and vitality of my subject, whether it's been painted a hundred times or only once, and to share the spirit of my own unique artistic vision with the viewer."

After resolving the values and composition in thumbnail sketches, or a small oil study, Dupuy transfers the underpinnings of the work onto a toned canvas with a quick, gestural charcoal sketch, being careful to keep the energetic quality of the all-important first statement.

Setting out plenty of colour, and using a limited palette of five to eight pigments, she begins to paint rapidly over the whole surface, getting down the essential colour and value masses, leaving details for later.

"A confident, bold beginning ensures that I carry this vital energy through to the finished work, and helps me to retain the interest which drew me to paint the subject in the first place. A favourite quote of mine, from the painter, Pyle, is 'Throw your heart into your current painting, and jump in after it!'"

Winner of several awards, and with work in numerous private collections in Europe and North America, Dupuy is an active member of the Federation of Canadian Artists, and has generously donated her paintings to several island causes over the years.

Her work is currently represented by the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria, in their art rental and sales program, and may be viewed on the federation website, at www.artists.ca.

The show runs at Island Savings in Ganges through September 7.

Poet Laureate at ArtSpring

Canada's first Poet Laureate — George Bowering — will take the stage at ArtSpring on August 7 for an evening of witty readings as part of the Sizzling Summer Nights festival.

Bowering, a two-time winner of the Governor General's Literary Award, has published over 70 books, and edited and contributed to many others.

In the mid-1950s, Bowering worked as a Royal Canadian Air Force photographer. He also attended Victoria College, the University of British Columbia (UBC) and the University of Western Ontario (UWO), and earned a Master of Arts degree from UBC in 1963.

In 1967, Bowering stopped his Ph.D. studies at UWO to take a writer-in-residence position at Sir George Williams University (now Concordia University) in Montreal.

The Penticton-born poet taught at the University of Calgary, Concordia and Simon Fraser University (SFU), plus did a number of short stints across North America and in Italy, Germany and Denmark.

In 1969, he won the Governor's General Award for poetry for Rocky Mountain Foot and Gangs of Kosmos. He was shortlisted for the same award again in 2000 for his book-length poem His Life.

Bowering took the Governor General's Award for fiction in 1980 for his novel Burning Water, making him the first English writer to receive the prestigious award in both the poetry and fiction categories.

Since then, only Margaret Atwood and Michael Ondaatje have achieved the same honour.

In addition to his status as one of Canada's most prolific writers, Bowering published magazines throughout the 1960s and '70s, such as Tish, Imago and Beaver Kosmos Folios, and they opened the doors for a new generation of poets. Bowering's strong support for small presses and small magazines provided invaluable contributions to a sometimes neglected pocket of Canadian culture.

Throughout his career as an editor, essayist and teacher, he has encouraged other writers and published many anthologies acknowledging Canadian poets of the present and past.

At SFU, he created a course focussed specifically on British Columbian writers.

In November 2002, Bowering was appointed the first Canadian Parliamentary Poet Laureate, and was made an Officer of the Order of Canada later that month. He also received honorary doctorates from UBC in 1994 and UWO in 2003.

Bowering will present an evening of thought-provoking readings at ArtSpring beginning at 8 p.m., and audience members will have a chance to meet the writer after the event.

Tickets cost $10 at the ArtSpring box office (537-2102) and discounts do not apply.

Hiroshima, Nagasaki bombings commemorated at Peace Park

Salt Spring Island residents have commemorated Hiroshima Day for nearly 25 years, and this year's event will incorporate Nagasaki Day as well.

Activities will take place on Monday in the Peace Park across from ArtSpring, featuring keynote speaker Barbara Wien, co-director of non-profit organization Peace Brigades International (PBI).

The event, held in remembrance of the nuclear bombings of Hiroshima (August 6) and Nagasaki (August 9) 59 years ago, will begin at 6 p.m.

An hour of all-ages, kid-friendly activities will include making posters with the theme "Let's hang war out to dry."

There will also be music, display tables highlighting humanitarian work done locally and overseas and a "Kiss Star Wars Goodbye" game. In case of rain, events will be moved to ArtSpring.

"(This is) part of building peace, which is as joyful as war is bleak."

— Marg Simons

At a 7 p.m. ceremony, Wien will make the keynote address about her personal experiences with human rights work and the need to find different ways to solve conflicts in the world.

"It's serendipity that Barbara and her family are vacationing in B.C. and Alberta and will be arriving on Salt Spring on the ninth," said Carol Grier, one of the event organizers. "We're so fortunate to have her here at this time. The death and destruction in Nagasaki are rarely commemorated, and it is important that the victims of that devastating event are also remembered."

Jan Slakov, another organizer, added that it is also important to visualize and work towards peace.

"We're very lucky to be able to have the co-director of PBI with us this year. PBI provides nonviolent protection for people in danger in many places in the world and is patterned after a recommendation of Gandhi's, to replace military force with organized nonviolence," she said.

Prior to Monday's events, a candlelight vigil will be held on Friday, August 6 at dusk in the Peace Park to commemorate victims of the Hiroshima genocide.

"We hope many people will be able to join us again this year," said organizer Marg Simons. "Some people may hesitate to come, fearing that the event would be too depressing. Of course, war is depressing, so that's why we always make our Hiroshima Day events lively and fun. They are part of building peace, which is as joyful as war is bleak."

Like last year, participants will use some of summer's bounty of flowers to make a giant peace symbol in the park. For more information or to donate flowers, call 537-5251.

In addition to the Hiroshima and Nagasaki day events, the 16th annual Fulford Day of family fun will take place in Drummond Park from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday — see the inside of Visitor for details.

16th Annual Fulford Day

Lots of family fun to be found on tap at August 7 Fulford Day

By JENNIFER MCFEE
Staff Writer

The 16th-annual Fulford Day festivities will be underway Saturday, bringing eight hours of fun-filled events geared for the whole family.

From 10 a.m. right through to 6 p.m., festival-goers can enjoy kids' games, local music, delicious food and scenic views at Drummond Park, only a few minutes drive from Fulford Harbour.

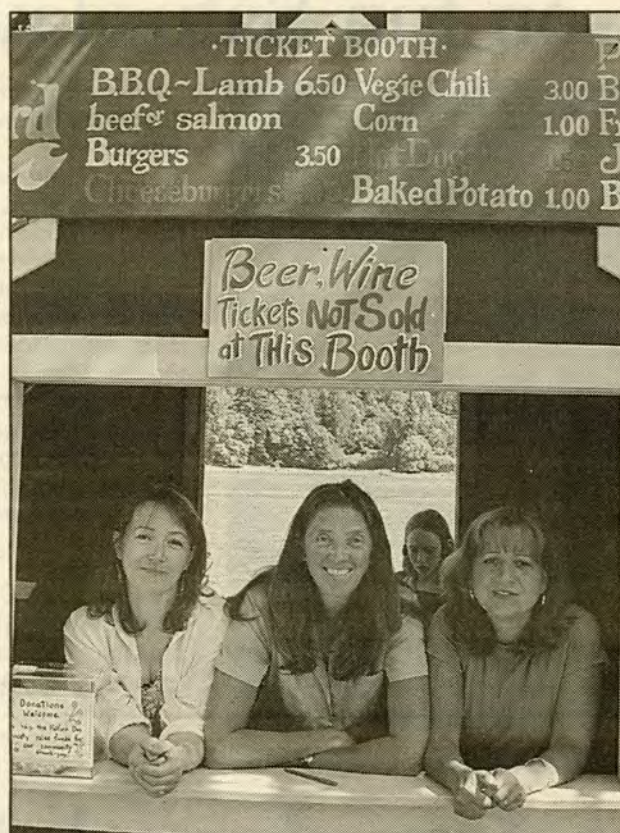

Starting off the festival, kids' races will take place from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

"We try to do something for everyone from pre-school age to elementary school age," said this year's event organizer Stew Rimmer.

At around noon, an impressive selection of delectable treats will be offered, sure to please any palate. Barbecued Salt Spring lamb, salmon and beef will be for sale, along with hot dogs, hamburgers and corn on the cob. A meatless chili option will be available for vegetarians.

For dessert, families can enjoy mouthwatering slices of homemade fruit pie from the anticipated annual pie sale.

"The pies are pretty famous. They go quickly," said Johanna Hoskins, president of the Fulford Day Society, who estimates between 1,500 and 2,000 attended last year's event.

Volunteers staff the ticket booth at last year's Fulford Day.

Attendees can also look forward to fruitsicles, tea, coffee, juice and soft drinks, as well as a variety of beverages available in the refreshment garden, open at noon.

Talented musical performers will entertain the masses while they munch on their lunch.

"The live music starts at noon," said Rimmer. "We have a feature performer, Milton Randall, who has appeared in the past at Fulford Elementary School. The kids really liked that."

Hoskins said Randall's performance, plus drumming workshops he will hold in the afternoon, will be fun for the whole family.

"Kids and adults alike can come out and drum with him," she said.

Local musicians will continue to play throughout the day.

Afternoon activities include more kids' games at 1 p.m., Bingo, a cake-walk and a watermelon-eating contest.

"Unfortunately the tides are wrong for sandcastle building this year, and the dress-up booth has fallen through the cracks due to a lack of volunteers," Rimmer said.

Instead, kids will be able to gather for story time inside the inflatable Dancing Bear Story Theatre.

A 4 p.m. draw will determine the winner for the Fulford Day Challenge Quilt.

In addition, 25 prizes were donated for the festival's main raffle by Salt Spring individuals and businesses. First prize is a Carol Evans print entitled Veils of Light.

All funds raised by the event will be reinvested into the community through the Fulford Day Society. In the past, the society has donated to island schools, Drummond Park, Beaver Point Hall, Fulford Hall, Treefrog Daycare, Core Inn Youth Project, salmon enhancement funds, the Salt Spring Historical Society and Splash indoor pool society.

"Over the past 15 years, we have raised over $56,800, which has been donated back into the community," said Hoskins.

Fulford Day — fun

Drumming workshops provide hands-on fun Saturday afternoon

Milton Randall johncameron.ca

Renowned percussionist Milton Randall will take the stage as the opening act for Fulford Day's musical performances.

Randall, who began performing professionally when he was 13 years old, is already known to many Salt Spring school students from hands-on drumming workshops he led on the island earlier this year.

On Saturday afternoon at the Drummond Park event, Randall will offer all-ages workshops based on the Brazilian and African drumming techniques he learned from recognized masters.

The public school and university-level educator has performed with symphonies in both Winnipeg and El Paso, and has appeared on CBC Radio and Mexican television programs.

Following Randall's opening performance, some of Salt Spring's favourite resident musicians will perform for the crowds.

Those include:

- The Swells (KC Kelly, Matt Steffich, Dave Roland and Doug Rhodes);
- blues-jazz singer Simone Grasky;
- funk-reggae favourites Drop Radio;
- Celtic-folk performer Harry Warner;
- and a special mystery guest.

The Fulford Day Challenge Quilt has been admired throughout the summer while it has been on display at Island Savings Credit Union, but the harvest-theme creation will find a new home following Saturday's Fulford Day raffle draw.

Organizer Carron Carson initiated the quilting challenge several years ago as a fundraiser for Fulford Day. The Fulford Day Society reinvests all money raised into local initiatives.

Ticket sales for the raffle of last year's nautical-themed quilt earned over $2,200, which went toward community projects.

Warm yellows, oranges and browns colour the 56- X 56-inch wall hanging, consisting of contributions from 13 fabric artists.

The quilters faced the challenge of including two specific pieces of anywhere within their square year's harvest theme.

"This is the third year said Carson, who has been years.

Gallery of art and more, Sizzling Summer Nights fills ArtSpring calendar

By JOHN WAKEFIELD
Driftwood Contributor

There are so many great reasons to visit ArtSpring this August. The galleries are full of wonderful art and the theatre is bustling with worldwide stars.

The fourth annual Salt Spring Island photographers' show called Photo Secession reflects the sensibilities of more than 20 island photographers and a range of unique methods used to express their artistic visions.

From landscape and portraiture to abstract; from the dark room to the computer, the analog camera to the digital camera, the photographers are united in their passion to capture light and bend it to sublime ends. August 1-23.

Keep your summer sizzling—Eliana Cuevas delivers the sounds of Venezuela with samba jazz and sexy, sultry salsa. A vocal tour-de-force, Eliana has the ability to capture the spirit of Latin American music and spice it generously with a captivating stage presence.

Top it off with Vocal Artist of the Year in the Latin Achievement Awards Canada 2003 and you have an evening of irresistibly beautiful music. Friday, August 6, 8 p.m.

As Canada's first Poet Laureate, two-time winner of the Governor General's Literary Award and Officer of the Order of Canada, George Bowering is one of this country's foremost writers of his generation.

Poet, author, diarist and historian, Bowering tells it like he sees it in this stimulating, thought-provoking and witty evening of readings. Saturday, August 7, 8 p.m.

When you listen to the Stuttgart Chamber Choir, you hear one of Europe's foremost vocal ensembles "... beautifully balanced sound [and] bright, rich layers of resonance." This show is sold out.

WHAT'S ON AT ARTSPRING

Whether heating up the stage with his electrifying swing or cradling the curves of a tender melody, Montreal-based Guy St-Onge's turn at the piano is an unforgettable experience. This engaging trio pays tribute to one of the towering and most influential figures in all of jazz history, Bill Evans. Wednesday, August 11, 8 p.m.

One of the finest exponents of authentic southern Louisiana Cajun music, Hadley Castille and the Sharecropper Band serve up a musical gumbo that captivates and electrifies audiences worldwide.

Turn-of-the-century fiddle tunes combine with a swing-influenced sound to create an intoxicating blend of rhythm-driven two-steps, old-time waltzes and award-winning original compositions. Friday, August 13, 8 p.m.

Celebrate the return of Festival ArtSpring's favourite and finest chamber musicians in two evenings of evocative and unforgettable music.

Featuring the music of Britten, Boccherini, Bax and Brahms, ArtSpring will resound with haunting oboe melodies, spell-binding Spanish guitar, lush strings, piano and even clapping castanets. Saturday, August 14 and Friday, August 20, 8 p.m.

Fiddleworks presents an inspirational Showcase Concert of eight of Canada's finest musicians on fiddle, guitar, banjo, piano, whistle and flute, plus singing and dancing, all brought together for the Salt Spring Fiddle Workshop.

This concert features the celebrated Toronto-based duo of Appalachian fiddler Erynn Marshall with Chris Coole (The Foggy Hogtown Boys) on banjo, guitar, and vocals, plus music from Victoria-based multi-instrumentalist Ken Hall (Sunyata, The Stomp Club), fiddler/singer Velle Huscroft (Honey Girl), fiddler and dancer Chelsea Sleep (The Twisted String Ensemble), Seattle fiddler Karen Dignan, pianist Helen Edgar from New Brunswick, and local fiddlers Carolyn Hatch and Jaime Rokeby-Thomas. Sunday, August 22, 8 p.m.

The Painters Guild Summer Show fills the gallery space with a stunning visual array of diverse painterly expression. See the depth and range of work by guild members that shows why this local arts group is so successful. Open to the public from August 26 to September 7.

On the Burning Bush Tour, find improvisational theatrical monologue combining comedy, satire, drama and activism in Spiritually Incorrect.

It stars Alan Clements, a former Buddhist monk, journalist, author, screenwriter, human rights activist and a performer of improvised spoken word in a radical new genre of spiritual entertainment.

Theatre critics have described Clements as a Lenny Bruce for the post-New Age, a spiritual Terrence McKenna.

The show is a benefit for Aung San Suu Kyi, Burma's incarcerated Nobel peace laureate. The show is 80 minutes and a note for parents: it contains explicit content. Saturday, August 28, 7:30 p.m.

To purchase tickets, contact the ArtSpring box office in person (100 Jackson Avenue) or call 537-2102. For further event information visit www.artspring.ca.

Award-winning Cajun band steps onto art centre's stage

Cajun fiddler Hadley J. Castille and the Sharecroppers bring their foot-tapping, thigh-slapping sound to ArtSpring on Friday, August 13.

Born and raised in Louisiana, Hadley J. Castille is one of the finest exponents of authentic South Louisiana Cajun music.

According to an ArtSpring press release, "He is the kind of entertainer who reaches out to his audience, inviting them to join in the celebration of life and music emanating from stage."

Castille often introduces his songs with spoken narratives that give the audience insight into the colourful background and history of the characters that inhabit his songs.

A performance by Hadley J. Castille and the Sharecropper Band includes turn-of-the-century fiddle tunes swing-influenced Cajun blues, accordion-driven two steps, old-time waltzes and award-winning original songs written by Hadley and his son Blake.

At the premiere of A Cajun Concerto, which is based on Louisiana Cajun folksongs, the band became the first Cajun group to perform with a full symphony orchestra, the Acadian Symphony Orchestra.

In 1992 he was honored by the Cajun French Music Association (CFMA) with its annual Heritage Award for his song called 200 Lines: I Must Not Speak French, an autobiographical account of being punished as a child for speaking French on the school grounds.

Along with Zachary Richard and Action Acadian, Hadley helped introduce French immersion classes into St. Landry Parish schools and just last year he was inducted into the order of The Living Legends (of South Louisiana) and received Le Cajun's Award of Excellence by the CFMA.

In addition to the two Castilles, The Sharecroppers consists of keyboard player Blake Lagneaux, percussionist Kenny Alleman, and bassist and vocalist Rick Benoit. Castille and his band perform throughout the United States, Canada, and Europe. Their recordings include Forty Acres and Two Mules, Cajun Swamp Fiddler, Third Generation: La Musique de les Castilles, and Cajun Christmas.

The show begins at 8 p.m. and tickets are available through the ArtSpring box office.

Salt Spring is the best place for family gatherings, elegant dinners, and picnics.

If you love good food, whether it's in the elegant surroundings of a fine dining room, at a funky restaurant that serves up great live entertainment, on a scenic patio on a warm summer's evening, by candlelight at an intimate table for two, or a picnic with family and friends at any one of the fabulous outdoor vistas this island is famous for, you're sure to find the perfect menu to suit. Salt Spring is home to a terrific range of food growers, brewers and wineries, coffee houses, bakeries, pizzerias, restaurateurs and chefs, all passionate about offering only the best. Fresh seafood, organic produce, International cuisine, hearty pub fare: whether you're a visitor to Salt Spring or have lived here for years, you can be sure to find something delectable to eat, in just the right setting, whatever and whenever your appetite demands.

You can start the day sipping rich, frothy coffee, sampling freshly baked goodies and lazing in the sunshine, or treat yourself to an all-the-trimmings breakfast before heading out onto the water or for a day's hike or bicycle ride. If you'll be off the beaten-track for the day, don't forget to stock up on provisions for lunchtime. The local grocery stores offer the finest in Island-grown and produced fruit and vegetables, luscious cheeses, and delicious, wholesome Deli and bakery items. The island's pubs and restaurants have lunch menus and featured specials, so if it's a light, flavourful meal or heart-warming grub you're after, you can be sure it will be tantalizingly prepared, Salt Spring style. Or why not try an ethnic dish? Spicy Thai, delicate sushi, or a Mexican feast: it can all be found right here.

And of course, any time is a good time to indulge in real Italian gelato or handmade chocolates, manufactured right here on the island.

Evenings are the busiest time, especially in the summer, so it can be a good idea to reserve a table, particularly if you want to sample the menu prepared by one of the Island's world-class chefs. Seafood features prominently, caught locally and exquisitely served. Island-made and award-winning beers and wines are also available, the perfect complement to your meal. Many restaurants and pubs offer live entertainment by local performers, and all pride themselves on the variety, freshness and creativity of the food they serve.

Whatever your choice, you're sure to enjoy the very best in dining, complete with the warm, friendly service Salt Spring Island is famous for.

CURRENCY CORNER

by Jim Scott

I want to follow up on last week's column about the Local Currencies in the 21st Century Conference. What became apparent at the conference is that the Salt Spring Island Monetary Foundation (SSIMF) model of a local currency fully integrated with the national currency is an emerging global standard for local currencies. Eric Booth, who represented the SSIMF at the conference, feels the ideas of Margrit Kennedy and Per Almgren, whom he met there, deserve further consideration on Salt Spring Island.

Magrit Kennedy has argued for monetary reform for the past 15 years. Per Almgren, designed the interest-free savings and loan system used by the JAK Bank in Sweden. An important issue, said Eric, is changing the value and use of money at the local level.

Interest does serve a useful function for the circulation of unused funds. But there are many quite negative side-effects. Both Kennedy and Almgren agree in the current money economy there are only two types of costs—labor costs and interest costs. Almgren believes the interest costs are part of what makes growth unsustainable. Margrit Kennedy concurs, "The debt that has accumulated can't be paid back." The debt creates an impossible pressure on social and natural resources. Eliminating interest would alleviate pressure and put more wealth into the hands of local economies, she believes.

The idea of interest-free loans is, perhaps, one of the most revolutionary discussed at the conference. Eric believes such loans could have a role to play in Salt Spring Island's future. Certainly, he says, we should explore the concept as we consider how to utilize the SSIMF reserve fund. The JAK Medlemsbank is a good starting point. The website which outlines its history and its functioning is: <http://home.swipnet.se/~w-55704/jakeng.htm>.

ISLAND COUPLE LOVE LIFE WITH ALPACAS

By ROGER BRUNT
Special to the Driftwood

"Heck no; we're going to go!"

That thought (or one very similar) must have been buzzing around Alan Burrows' mind as he loaded Celestial Star, along with Raven Star and Conclusive, into his specially built livestock trailer and headed out for the Canadian National Alpaca Show in Red Deer, Alberta from his farm on St. Mary Lake in late April of this year.

The reason Alan was so decisive was because he knew Celestial Star to be a very special animal, but he also knew he faced a considerable challenge by bringing her along.

At the national show there is no category for judging alpacas with dual or multi-coloured coats (called pintos or fancies in the trade).

Solid-coloured animals are judged in their respective categories: white, light, brown, dark brown and black. The ruling for multi-coloured animals is they go in their colour class which is predominant in the "blanket" area — that is to say the area on the back which would be covered by a saddle blanket — in Celestial Star's case, Fawn.

The desirability of an alpaca's solid-coloured fleece is just not a matter of preference by the judges. If you are trying to build a commercial fiber industry, you want fiber that is consistent in colour for ease of handling. An alpaca's best fiber is in its blanket, and an animal can have a solid-coloured blanket even though its face, neck or legs might be a different colour.

"I knew Celestial Star would be knocked down for lack of continuity of tone," says Alan. "Some shows have a separate category for fancies, but not this one. But I also knew her fiber was so outstanding that I just decided, 'Oh heck, I'm going to place her with the lights. I knew I might lose points in some of the fiber categories, but I was sure I'd do well in others. That could put me in the winner's circle.'"

With $70,000 in prize money, this was important. The cost to make the trip hauling three animals, was substantial, in addition to the entry fees. As it turned out, Alan covered all costs, and then some.

His faith in Celestial Star was confirmed when she came first in the juvenile light category in spite of her mixed colouring; Raven Star came second in his class, the juvenile dark.

Success like that is not something you hope for, it's something you breed for. And along with the cash and ribbons comes a great feeling of pride because, thanks to Alan and Joy taking a chance, the national show is considering offering a "fancy" class next year. This is quite an achievement for having only been breeding alpacas for two years.

Alan and Joy moved to Salt Spring in 2002 (after a brief stay in Whistler) from Hong Kong, where Alan worked in the airline industry and Joy in a veterinarian clinic before starting her own dog grooming service. All of the alpacas born on the farm are named STAR after the Star Ferry Line which transits Hong Kong's harbour — a nice reminder of their stay there, as well as a distinctive signature name for the farm's animals.

If raising alpacas seems like an unlikely venture to plunge into straight from the Orient, Alan and Joy agree that there has indeed been a steep learning curve.

Says Joy: "It all started from reading a one-page article about raising alpacas in a magazine at the Moka House in Ganges. Right after that we visited a Mount Currie breeder (who became a great help) and we fell in love with alpacas. We'd already fallen in love with Salt Spring so the rest, as they say, is history."

It is a measure of Alan and Joy's commitment to their animals that they insist on maintaining contact with those they sell on Salt Spring for at least the first year.

Because alpacas are herd animals, they will not sell only one — two is the minimum number, and some people buy three or four. During this period, Alan and Joy check the animals for toenails that need clipping, and teeth that might need filing.

Selenium shots are administered twice a year due to the lack of selenium in Salt Spring's soil and, because alpacas evolved in the Andes where there is lots of sunshine, vitamins A and D are also supplemented.

"The economics of raising alpacas are good," say Alan and Joy. "Alpacas are easy to look after. They defecate only in one area, which is a good natural protection against ingesting parasites, and they are very efficient eaters. Alpacas have to be efficient, coming from the South American Andes where the climate is harsh and the vegetation sparse."

Although a top stud alpaca can be worth $50,000, 90 per cent of the males do not become studs and are gelded. In the industry, these "fiber boys" are kept for their fleece.

Says Joy: "Within three years, the cost of a fiber boy (approximately $375) can be recovered just from the value of raw fiber they produce. Raw alpaca fiber is worth approximately $20 per pound. It is worth $80 per pound once processed into yarn, and up to $200 per pound once made into a garment."

Joy's knitting machine sits in their large living room overlooking the lake; she spends a lot of time there devising ways to best utilize their product, including opening a shop on the farm for the public where alpaca fiber, and products made from the fiber, can be purchased.

Alpaca fiber (it is not called wool) was originally reserved for wearing by only Inca royalty. It is very fine in texture, stronger and warmer than sheep's wool, and without the "itch" factor, important for people with allergies.

As well as a home to some of the country's finest alpacas, St. Mary Lake Estate is also a bed and breakfast. Says Joy: "The alpacas are a fascinating addition to the guests' stay, both pastoral and spiritual."

One fellow took his guitar into the pasture where he serenaded the animals as they gathered 'round. The males were very curious and friendly; the females much more reserved."

One couple from Texas summed it up perfectly when they said they chose to stay at St. Mary Lake Estate because, to them, it was obvious they would be staying at a place where people loved what they are doing.

For Alan and Joy, that just about sums it up.

This Week's Horoscope

With the Mayan New Year, according to Jose Arguelles' Dream Spell calendar, some exciting and perhaps dramatic energies are now active. Last year's Dreamspell cycle was about assimilation, digestion, integration and elimination of psychological realities, especially as they pertain to relationships. Almost everyone will have experienced growth, lessons, challenges, deepening and endings on personal relationship fronts. Now, the stage is set for energies to influence us to work and play more cooperatively with others. The world is changing at an exponential rate and there is much to do in terms of creating a more sustainable future. The masses are quickly waking-up to the fact that the politics in the world is too close to economics and too far away from ecological sustainability. In between these realities is a paradigm shift that includes a holistic worldview or cosmology. Our current cosmology tilts to the left where reason and logic stand in the way of intuition and love. Consequently, there is a lack of real vision. This year, we will all have the opportunity either by choice or by consequence to merge our minds and hearts with others of like mind and share in the spirit of cooperation.

Aries (Mar 21 - Apr 20)

A playful and sporty mood continues. You feel excited and dramatic. You are in the mood to go big! Many prospects and possibilities are running through your mind. All the while, you are looking at things with a critical eye. At deeper levels, facing fears is becoming the norm. As you do, you get stronger and more practical. Still, you are in the mood to take a risk or two, albeit cautious ones. Enjoy the summer mood while you can and thank the Sun for the heat!

Taurus (Apr 21 - May 20)

Lingering and lounging close to home continues as a central theme. You may be quite content to stay busy at a slow pace. Fine-tuning creative expressions is an art. Tending to things independently seems to be the flow now. Meanwhile, precious possessions are catching your eye, jewelry and other adornments to please the eye. Making improvements on a variety of fronts are a core interest. This may include relationships as well as your living environment. Amidst all those projects and intentions, take some time out to simply be!

Gemini (May 21 - Jun 20)

Covering a lot of ground with friends and lovers is in the spotlight. Whether it is parties and dancing in the clubs or venturing here and there, you are happy to be-bop where the wind takes you. Whether you have the funds or not, you are having as much fun as you can. Meanwhile, Opportunities for change and improvements close to home are uplifting your life. These will prove to inspire you to new heights yet, so make the effort to create a new energy flow.

Cancer (Jun 21 - Jul 21)

Consolidating your foundation continues. You may be doing this by assisting others along the same lines. This includes assessing your skills, talents and resources. Write a list of all you are and have and you will likely find you have a long list. Add versatility, initiative and the ability to work hard and you will realize just how employable you are. Better yet, the stars say that you are approaching a time when starting your own business will bring success. Go for it!

Leo (Jul 22 - Aug 21)

With all your engines ignited and fired-up, you are in the mood to put the 'pedal to the metal'. The more you are able to clearly direct this energy the better. Meeting people, exchanging practical ideas and shaking hands is also likely. Others are enthusiastic, but will they commit? You do well to handle the details and follow-up your self. Fortunately, you are the mood to take stock and gain a clear assessment of what is possible. On your mark, get set, go!

Virgo (Aug 22 - Sep 23)

A time of rest and retreat continues. Alternatively, Perhaps you are happily submerged in some creative project or another. In other regards, you feel happy and free to explore new horizons. While your will to act may be low, it will soon return. Facing inner fears and demons takes energy. Rewards for past efforts are reason to celebrate. Seeing things as they are rather than you would like them will help where things are tough. To stay in your heart, keep saying thanks!

Libra (Sep 23 - Oct 21)

A crazy and at least strong individualistic mood is upon you. Feelings of rebellion of some kind or another are probable. Efforts to feel both feet firmly on the ground are a top priority. As old values undergo extensive renovation, you feel the challenge to gain a clear sense of whom you are. With the whole spectrum of your values, self-concepts and priorities undergoing extensive change or improvements, at least, the ideal attitude is one of faith.

Scorpio (Oct 22 - Nov 20)

You are on a high now, yet you feel particularly sober. With your visions, ambitions and sense of determination at a peak, this is the right time to make some key moves. By the time you read this, there will be three weeks left to catch the fullness of this wave. Merging minds, efforts and assets with significant others is turning you on! In any case, keep an open mind about what you think is possible and emphasize good service in whatever you are doing.

Sagittarius (Nov 21 - Dec 20)

You have reasons to feel more jovial and gregarious now. Some major changes continue to unfold affecting home, family, finances and other security related aspects of your life. This is a good time to take a strategic and constructively critical approach to your overall lifestyle. You are in the mood to push, so look in the mirror as you push through and beyond blockages. It is all a part of the natural process; so do not take things too personally. Accept the necessary processes of change.

Capricorn (Dec 21 - Jan 19)

Deep and passionate feelings are flowing through you now. You feel ambitious and are in the mood to go big. Investments of one kind or another are likely. These may include supplies to embark on creative and artistic projects. Writing or, at least, outlining and designing plans, is also probable. You yearn to break through certain fears, especially on relationship fronts and now is the time to do it! Your will and determination to do what you must will increase. Start now!

Aquarius (Jan 20 - Feb 19)

Some sparks on relationship fronts stand a good chance of setting your heart on fire. You are in the mood for love and are ready for something new. You do have your boundaries, however, and anyone who comes close enough will hear all about them sooner than later. You are also happy to embark upon new enterprises and may need to do some research and background study. Join the ranks to make a meaningful contribution, yet intend to do it your way!

Pisces (Feb 20 - Mar 20)

Creating and living a lifestyle that is really you is now a central theme. You are more willing than usual to make the necessary efforts. Enough talk! The time has come to take real, measurable action. Perhaps you have been busy doing so already. If not, do what you must to manifest your dreams and ideals. For example, make clear intention by writing them down, tell others about your current dreams and goals, make a collage and ask others for their help. Exercise faithful follow-through!
